GROVER IS CONFIDENT

He Will Be Eelected President This Fall.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 25.—Ex-President Cleveland writes in a letter to Major Dean's, of this city: "Those who are well informed have no apprehension as to the outcome in New York.

"I know of no democrats who are not enthusiastic and confident."

All women who are overworked, "run-down," or debilitated, need just one medicine—and that is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It's a broad statement, but facts bear it out. These are the facts:

If you're a weak and delicate woman, then the "Favorite Prescription" builds you up; if you suffer from any of the painful disorders and derangements peculiar to your sex, it relieves and cures. It invigorates the system, improves digestion, enriches the blood, dispels aches and pains, brings refreshing sleep, and restores health and strength. All the chronic weaknesses, irregularities, and disturbances known as "female complaints" are completely and permanently cured by it.

These are facts, and they're strong enough to warrant the makers in guaranteeing their remedy. If it fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back. No other medicine for women is sold on such terms. That proves that nothing else can be "just as good."

Awful Disaster in the West.

Workmen Fall Sixty Feet To Death,

And Are Fearfully Torn and Mangled.

A New Bridge Refused to Carry the Train,

And Cars, Ties, Rails, Men and the Bridge Timbers Were Piled in a Heap on the River Bottom.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 25.—An appalling accident occurred to a gang of workmen who were doing some construction work on the line of the Great Northern railroad yesterday morning, resulting in the death of several of the men, the fatal injury of five more and the serious injury of six others. The dead are:

John Leonard, conductor, of St. Paul.
John Johnson.
James Wright.
Daniel Wakehux.
N. Nelson.
J. Brody.
A. Oleson.

The last six of the dead were all laborers.

The fatally injured are:

J. Gilmer, back and both legs broken.
J. Robertson, skull fractured.
—. Nelson, chest crushed, both arms broken.
J. J. Campbell, struck in the abdomen by end of steel rail; entrails protruding.
J. L. Inville, head crushed and body badly lacerated.

The seriously injured are:

George Nelson, back and leg broken.
Charles Anderson, internal injuries.
Robert Anderson, contusion on head, arms broken.
A. Maxwell, injuries on head and body.
C. James, injuries about the chest and head.
Henry Payne, arm broken and internal injuries.

The dead and injured men were employed by Shepard, Rims & Co., and had finished the track to the Wenatchee river. Yesterday morning they started to lay rails across the stream.

The east approach and the first span were crossed safely. When the middle of the second span was reached the false work under the bridge collapsed and the track machine, together with two carloads of ties and timber, and several cars loaded with rails fell to the river, 60 feet below.

The workmen were thrown in every direction and some of them were buried under ties and rails. The water in the river was about three feet deep and ran through a solid rock channel.

Conductor John Leonard, of St. Paul, was standing at the end of his train when the accident occurred. His body was afterwards found with a heavy rail lying across his head and another across his feet, holding him under water. The body of the unfortunate man was horribly mangled.

Leonard's body will be brought here, where it will be embalmed and sent to St. Paul.

The accident was due to the undermining of the falsework of the bridge by the water. That part of the road which it occupied is still under control of the contractors and has not been accepted by the railroad company. No intimation of the disaster was given to the unfortunate men. All were busy with their respective duties when the bridge shook, tottered and finally collapsed entirely, dashing them against the solid rock below. Six flat cars and an engine were on the bridge at the time. The engine was uncoupled, luckily, for some of the injured, because the horror of roasting to death would have been added to the distressing accident.

The eastern end of the bridge was reached Sunday night and it was the intention of Supt. Farrell, who was in charge of the crew, to push the work on the track laying beyond the bridge yesterday.

When the men went to work yesterday morning the rails were quickly laid across the east approach, which was a permanent structure. Beyond this approach were two spans of temporary bridge. The first span was crossed safely, but the train was delayed on some account right in the center of the west span, and the men had hardly got to work when the bridge collapsed.

The temporary structure was supported by piles driven in the gravel and in such a way that each span depended on the other, hence the spans are now a mass of broken timber at the bottom of the gully. Of the train of six cars, three were laden with rails, two with ties and one with a derrick.

NOTED WEDDING.

Brigadier General Hardin Takes Unto Himself a Wife.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—A notable event in the social world was the marriage last evening of Brigadier General Martin D. Hardin and Miss Amelia McLaughlin. The ceremony was performed at 7 o'clock by Cardinal Gibbons, archbishop of Baltimore. The guests at the ceremony were: Mgr. Satolli, archbishop of Lepanto; Mgr. O'Connell, president of the American college at Rome; Archbishop Ireland, of St. Paul; Bishop Foley, of Detroit. A large and brilliant reception followed the ceremony. Among those present were Chief Justice and Mrs. Fuller, Gen. and Mrs. Miles, General and Mrs. McKeever, and a large number of other prominent people.

HEAVY DAMAGES.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 25.—Mr. Snively, democratic candidate for governor has brought suit against the Seattle Post Intelligencer and Seattle Press Times for $100,000 damages in each case. He charges them with libel. They published articles in which Mr. Snively was accused of being a swindler.

STORY OF A CRIME.

A Polish Jew Arrested For Murder.

A Boy Saw the Bloody Deed Through a Crack in the Floor.

St. Louis, Oct. 25.—Michael Pattaschinck, a Polish Jew, was arrested yesterday at Mineral Point, charged with a terrible murder committed in this city nearly a year ago, at which time he was a junk dealer here.

The arrest was made on the information furnished by Louis New, a boy who was employed by Pattaschinck at the time and who slept in a loft over the junk shop.

According to the boy the crime was committed on the night of December 23 last. He retired that night as usual but during the night or early in the morning he was awakened by voices down stairs, and looking through a crack in the floor he saw his employer talking to a stranger. After a while, and in response to a question as to whether he had any money, the stranger drew from his pocket a small bag filled with gold.

The Jew's eye glistened with greed at the sight of the stranger's wealth, and he asked the stranger, who was evidently intoxicated, to send for some beer. This was gotten and the two drank it and then continued talking.

The stranger seemed to be getting under the influence of liquor more and more every minute and finally dropped into a stupor. Pattaschinck, says New, was watching the man closely all the while, and when he seemed satisfied that the man was in a sound sleep, he drew a keen-edged pocket knife. Then he went cautiously to where the stranger was lying and gently raising his head until the neck was drawn, he drew the knife across the man's throat, cutting it from ear to ear.

The stranger jumped to his feet with a gurgling cry, and after turning around once or twice and clutching at his throat, fell to the floor, face downward.

Pattaschinck then robbed the dead man of his gold, went to his stable and hitched up his horse and wagon, and, putting the the body into the vehicle, he drove to the river, into which he threw the corpse. New says he followed his employer at a distance and saw him make this disposal of the body. He states that he has been afraid to tell the story of the crime until now, as he feared Pattaschinck.

FIGHTING INDIANS.

Government Troops Unable to Hold Their Own.

A Mexican General and His Little Band Liable To Be Massacred.

Chihuahua, Mex., Oct. 25.—A courier arrived here yesterday from Saliuaripa, a small village in the heart of the Sierra Madra mountains, bringing a message from Gen. Sixto Marquez, who left here ten days ago with 500 infantry to quell a disturbance among the Yaqui Indians near Saliuaripa.

The message called for reinforcements, stating that several hundred Indians are on the warpath and are massacreing the unprotected settlers. He found his 500 men insufficient to cope with the savages, and in an engagement with a band of them last Thursday the government troops were repulsed with a loss of ten men.

The Yaqui Indians have been restless and discontented ever since their patron saint, Teresa Urrea, was exiled by order of the government, and it is believed that it will take a large force of soldiers to bring them into subjection again.

TO CRIPPLE THE FAIR.

Switchmen Are Preparing For a Strike.

Believed That a Plan Is Forming to Have Them Go Out in May.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 25.—The switchmen of the country are preparing for a monster strike next May, expecting to cripple the world's fair business on the railroads and force them to concede the demands of employes.

"The Buffalo strike and the lesser ones which have occurred this year," Secretary Heimerle of the Switchmen's union, said, "are but preludes to the great strikes of 1893. It will be a strike the like of which never has been seen and which will extend all over the country. The railroads will be making enormous profits. The people would not want the world's fair injured and a clamor would arise which would force the roads to a settlement.

"The plans are all made for a giant uprising and the demands this fall are to test the attitude of the railroads towards us. The Buffalo switchmen are biding their time until next spring, when they will take part in a strike which will extend from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the great lakes to the gulf. The uprising will be national."

BROUGHT HOME A WIFE.

Young Thomas Surprises His Parents.

Springfield, O., Oct. 25.—Finley R. Thomas, youngest son of John H. Thomas, the millionaire manufacturer and esteemed man of this city, created a sensation yesterday evening by coming home from Cincinnati accompanied by a charming bride, until Sunday Miss Lee Wadsworth, a school mistress of Cold Springs, Ky.

The couple were married Sunday at Newport, Ky., the noted Gretna Green, by the Rev. Mr. Perryman, a Baptist minister.

The secrecy was due to the objection of the groom's parents, who interfered two months ago when he had planned to marry the girl, having even secured a marriage license.

FOR PEOPLE TO READ.

Thousands of Papers sent Through the Mail.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—A quarter of a million of Chicago citizens sent newspapers with full accounts of the dedicatory fete to their distant friends. Every letter box in Iowa has been repeatedly stacked up with papers, and bushels of stamped copies have been dumped on the sidewalks under the mail boxes half a dozen times a day.

Saturday 200,000 separate parcels of newspapers were received at the postoffice. Friday the pressure was as great. Thursday a trifle lighter, and about the same Sunday.

Altogether the postoffice disposed of more mail matter in the three days of the dedication than was ever handled before in an equal period of time by any office in the world.

THE WIND KICKERS

Of the Ann Arbor University in Town.

The Manager Endeavoring to Arrange a Game To Be Played in Toledo.

The Ann Arbor University foot ball team stopped at the Jefferson this morning, en route to Ann Arbor from Indianapolis.

W. E. Griffin, the manager in conversation with a Bee, said: "Partial arrangements have been made to play an exhibition game in Toledo with the Lehigh University team, of South Bethlehem, Pa., on November 12. It is going to be a difficult matter, I fear, to obtain suitable grounds. I was out to the base ball park and found the grounds all right, but there is no grand stand. The Outing club grounds, I understand, are not inclosed, which, of course, is necessary. I have not been out to the exposition grounds yet, but expect to go out to-day. It may be possible that these grounds will be suitable."

The team is composed of an athletic, gentlemanly lot of fellows, and it is safe to assert that they can put up a great game of foot ball. They have no doubt been in some close contests, if black eyes and scarred faces are a criterion. The names of the members of the team are: Paul Woodworth, F. H. Decke, A. Tupper, F. T. Harding, M. W. Griffin, Jas. Bird, H. Powers, E. L. Sanderson, W. Freund, Edward McAllister, George Nexgert, C. M. Southard, W. W. Pearson, F. E. Barbour, H. G. Cleveland, W. E. Griffin, C. L. Thomas.

WAR IS IMMINENT

Between the Two Street Railway Companies.

The Re-Construction Trouble Is Not at An End—The Consolidated Planning a Future Campaign.

The last suit growing out of the reconstruction of the street railway tracks, during the summer, was filed in common pleas court this morning by the Consolidated Street Railway company against the Toledo Electric Street Railway company. The object of this suit, as it was of the others, is as a protection in case of future emergencies, which are liable to involve the right to the property in the streets.

The plaintiff claims that the Toledo Electric Street Railway company has no right to the use of the tracks in the street without formal appropriation.

The Consolidated people take the view of the situation that if a company wants to come in and construct tracks on their property, and does it under the protest of the owner of the property, so be it, but there is going to be a monkey and parrot time when the time comes to settle the title to the property.

The streets involved in this suit are Monroe, from St. Clair to Summit; Summit, from Monroe to Perry street bridge; Adams, from St. Clair to Summit.

WAPAKONETA.

Wapakoneta, O., Oct. 25.—(Special)—The wife of the city marshal, John Butt, attempted suicide yesterday afternoon by taking four grains of morphine. Prompt medical attention saved her life. Officious friends carrying tales to her of her husband's infidelity caused her to attempt the rash act.

Edward Cook's new barn, with about a thousand bushels of wheat, was destroyed by fire last night. Loss $3,000; no insurance; origin mysterious.

THIRTY-FOUR OFFICIALS

Of the Pennsylvania Railroad in Toledo

On a Tour of Inspection—They Go Down the Line, Accompanied by Local Officials.

A long train of highly polished, richly upholstered carriages drew up in front of the Boody house this morning at an early hour, and were rapidly filled by some thirty or forty as fine looking men as could be found in a year's journey. They were all Pennsylvania railroad officials.

In the party were President J. B. Roberts, of Philadelphia, who has just returned from Europe; James McCrea, second vice-president, of Pittsburg; J. T. Brooks, of Pittsburg, general counsel; Jno. E. Davidson, of Pittsburg, treasurer; S. B. Leggett, of Pittsburg, secretary; Col. Jno. Casseus, of Washington; N. P. Shortridge, Henry D. Welsh, Geo. Wood, J. N. Du Barry, Alex. M. Fox, Henry H. Houston, Amos R. Little; W. H. Barnes, Edmund Smith, D. W. Sellers, Samuel Rea, D. S. Newhall, C. M. Bunting, J. H. Speakman, and Jno. P. Green, of Philadelphia; S. D. Casnave, of Fort Wayne; Joseph Word, Chas. Watts, Thos. Rodd and Benj. Thaw, of Pittsburg; Gen. A. G. Warner, C. A. Vernon, T. B. Kennedy, E. M. Norton, D. E. Williams and Geo. F. Hoff, of Marietta.

The party arrived in Toledo last evening and this morning's ride was a tour of inspection, during which the sights of the city were taken in incidentally.

It is the object of the company to make extended improvements on the line, and Toledo is to come in for its share. This city will probably be made a big coal shipping point for the road and extensive improvements in docks, etc., will likely be made.

The inspecting party went down the road at 9:30 o'clock to inspect the Toledo division. They were accompanied by the following local officials: District Freight Agent Frank Janes, Contracting Agent J. M. Steenberg, Superintendent J. S. Morris, G. L. Peck, and F. P. Morris.

FOSTORIA NOTES.

Fostoria, O., Oct. 25.—(Special)—Melvin, the 5-year-old son of A. J. Zabst, who resides at 225 East Crocker street, fell into a bucket of hot water yesterday morning and was so badly scalded that death resulted this morning.

Hon. Lawrence T. Neal, of Chillicothe, will address the democrats of Fostoria and vicinity on Wednesday evening, November 2d.

THE GRAND RALLY

Last Night Was a Miserable Fizzle and Fiasco.

The Alleged Parade Made Up of Boys and Hired Men.

Mr. Ashley Fails to Deny Any of the Serious Charges Made Against Him—Jim Is on the Run.

Did you see the parade (?)

For over a week the Ashley managers were drumming up a crowd for last night's rally.

Did you see the result?

Less than 500 people in line, and 65 per cent. of these were boys below the voting age.

At least 50 per cent. of the adults who wore regalias last evening were entreated to parade.

In the saloons along Adams street the money secured for parading was freely spent, and the men made no bones about it.

A good sample of the parade and of the people who composed it will be found in the following communication sent the Bee by a prominent Fifth warder:

To the Editor:—After scouring the Fifth ward for a week past, the republicans scired up 16 boys and 7 men to form a marching club last evening. The crowd met in a vacant room on Broadway, and for several hours the neighbors in the vicinity were disturbed by a drum corps wearing out their instruments attracting attention to the small gathering.

Said a prominent railroader of the ward to one of the faithful:

"What is this turnout?"

"This is the Harrison, Reid and Ashley club of the Fifth ward."

"I didn't think they had a club in this ward."

"No, we didn't; we are trying to organize."

"Won't you join to swell the crowd?"

"Why, there is no one in it. They are mostly school boys."

"Oh, that is all right, we got them to make the crowd big."

"But this is too poor a turnout for a ward of 10,000 inhabitants to be seen with."

"Yes, but what are we going to do. There are several republicans up there in front of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineer's hall that ought to be in line."

"Well, partner, the time is growing short for me, as I leave the Air Line Junction for the west at 11 o'clock sharp. But before I leave I tell you that the men up in front of the hall will not march or will not vote for Jim Ashley, as he is a bitter enemy to their organization."

"So-long."

And the railroader departed for the Broadway bridge tower house, to wait for a ride to the Junction.

FIFTH WARDER.

The parade was a fizzle from start to finish. There were the usual claptrap, razzle-dazzle blowing of trumpets and howling of youngsters, who were made happy with the presentation of a tin horn or other instrument of torture.

At Memorial Hall.

Memorial hall was well filled at the meeting last night, and the little boy with his horn was there and made night hideous.

At the last moment—and not up to the last moment—was Gas Trustee Jacob Romeis induced to act as chairman. He had little to say, and said that in a very gingerly way.

Mr. Ashley did not touch on the questions that interest the people of this district just now.

He did not deny that he wants a harbor at Frankfort, Mich.

He did not deny that he had been a Knownothing and was backed in his race for congress by the Knownothing element of this district.

He did not deny any of the charges that have been preferred against him in this campaign.

Judge W. H. West, of Bellefontaine, and Jim Southard had each a little something to say.

OHIO IS NOT IN IT.

Commander Weissert Makes Some Appointments.

Men Who Will Help to Manage the Affairs of the Grand Army for a Year.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 25.—Commander-in-Chief Weissert of the Grand Army of the Republic will to-day issue general order No. 2 from national headquarters in this city in which he will announce the appointment of five members of his official family as follows:

Adjutant general, E. B. Gray, Milwaukee; quartermaster general, John Taylor, Philadelphia; inspector general, Geo. L. Goodale, Boston; assistant adjutant general, J. L. Bennett, Chicago; senior aide de camp, Ford H. Rogers, Detroit.

The appointment of a judge advocate is still to be announced. Five of the seven members of the executive committee of the council of administration are also announced as follows:

Henry S. Dettrich, Chicago; L. B. Raymond, Hampton, Ia.; William H. Armstrong, Indianapolis; H. C. Luther, Providence, R. I.; A. P. Burchfield, Pittsfield, Pa.

The commander-in-chief outlines the policy of his administration which is to be a vigorous one in the interest of increasing the membership. He also gives prominence to the rule in the fundamental law of the order, which forbids the discussion of partisan politics in meetings.

ELEPHANTS ON A LARK.

Diamond and Prince Have a Fight.

They Knock Down a House and Do Much Other Damage.

Peru, Ind., Oct. 25.—A battle royal occurred early yesterday at Wallace's winter quarters, two miles east of this city in which five mammoth elephants were the participatns.

For some time an enmity has existed between Prince and Diamond, two great beasts of the herd, which culminated during the absence of Keeper Sweeney.

Diamon, with a weight of four tons, was the aggressor, but Prince was his match and succeeded in breaking his tusk and fairly crowding him through the heavy brick wall of the building, which fell upon them.

All the elephants broke loose from their chains and engaged in the melee. For half an hour pandemonium reigned. Quiet was finally restored, but not before the elephants were badly hurt. The place presented the appearance of a slaughter house. The noise could be heard for a mile.

CARRIAGE MAKERS.

Important Session Being Held in Buffalo.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 25.—The twentieth annual convention of the Carriage Builders' National association of America began at Music hall this morning and will continue three days.

It is really four conventions in one as the carriage dealers, carriage traveling men and carriage hardware men will also hold meetings during the progress of the builders' convention.

The associations are all intimately related to each other, members of one belonging to one or more of the others in many cases.

The scope of the builders' association is much wider than would naturally be supposed and embraces such questions as the preservation and rehabilitation of forest lands; the permanent improvement of common roads; the adjustment of freight rates; the development of a system of technical training for carriage mechanics, and a carriage display at the world's fair that will astonish the universe. About 600 delegates are in attendance.

The convention was called to orded at 11 a. m. by President Frank H. Hooker, of New Haven, Conn. The reports of the executive committee, secretary and treasurer, treasurer of the school fund, and committee on highways were presented.

IN INDIANAPOLIS.

Mrs. Harrison's Funeral to Occur on Friday.

The Arrangements Have Been Changed and the Following Is the Official Announcement.

Washington, Oct. 25.—The arrangements for Mrs. Harrison's funeral which had been partially agreed upon in the early hours of the morning were changed later after consultation with the members of the cabinet and communication with friends of the family in Indianapolis.

As the arrangements now stand a short funeral service will be held in the east room of the White House Thursday morning, and upon its conclusion the remains will be taken to the Pennsylvania station, where they will be placed on a special train.

The train will leave the station at noon and will be due in Indianapolis about 9 a. m. Friday.

From the station in the president's home city the funeral cortege will proceed directly and without delay to the First Presbyterian church, corner of New York and Pennsylvania streets. Here Rev. M. L. Haines, the pastor, will conduct simple services, attendance on which will probably be restricted to relatives and intimate friends.

Leaving the church, the funeral procession will wind its way to the beautiful cemetery of Crown Hill, where the body will be interred with brief and simple ceremony.

The exact resting place is being selected to-day by friends of the family in Indianapolis.

It is not the desire of the family to remain in Indianapolis for rest after the fatigue of the journey from Washington. The arrangements contemplate an immediate return to the railroad station, the special train to leave for Washington within a short time thereafter.

The services at the white house on Thursday morning will be of the simplest character and the utmost privacy will attend them. Rev. Leuns S. Hamlin, of the Church of the Covenant in this city, the pastor of the white house family, will conduct the services.

At 11 o'clock a broad ribbon of crepe, with pink edges, was tied in a bow on the bell pull of the front door of the mansion. The folds fell to the stone doorstep. This was the only sign, aside from the absence of the flag overhead, of the presence of the great mystery within. The body will not be removed to the east room until late this morning or this evening.

Such members of the cabinet as are in Washington and those who will be able to reach here in time, will act as honorary pall bearers. Secretary Tracy, Secretary Noble, Attorney-General Miller and Postmaster-General Wanamaker are in the city, and with ex-Secretary Proctor, had a brief interview with the president in his private chamber this morning.

Secretary John W. Foster and Secretary Charles Foster are on the way to Washington, the former from Indianapolis and the latter from Illinois. They are expected to reach Washington tonight or in the morning. Secretary Rusk probably left Milwaukee last night, and he will join the funeral party either here or en route to Indianapolis. Secretary Elkins is in West Virginia, but his exact location is not known. It is believed, however, that he will be in Washington by Thursday morning. Chief Justice Fuller will also be an honorary pall-bearer. He came to the white house this morning and left his card.

PERISHED IN THE FLAMES.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—The small frame cottage at 3734 Parnell avenue was burned to the ground early this morning, and Patrick Hogan, the owner and only occupant, perished in the flames. It is supposed that Hogan accidentally set fire to his home. The loss is less than $1,000.

THE WHITE CASE.

It Goes Over a Day in New York.

He Claims He Was to Get $100,000 for Marrying Mrs. Nagle.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Governor Flower gave a hearing this morning in the matter of the extradition of Charles A. White, of Wyoming. The warrant on which White was arrested charges him with grand larceny, the specific accusation being based on the alleged theft of securities valued at $150,000.

White met Mrs. Nagle, who is 42 years of age, at Hot Springs, Ark., where he paid court to her and soon married her.

Shortly after the marriage he abused her and compelled her to sign mortgages on various pieces of property besides forcing her to indorse his note for $75,000, payable 90 days after date.

He then left Cheyenne, taking with him stocks and bonds belonging to his wife, valued at $40,000 and converted them into cash and kept the proceeds.

White appeared this morning in charge of two officers. He was neatly dressed and wore patent leather shoes and kid gloves. He says in defense that he had proposed to Mrs. Nagle, at the Hot Springs, to marry her for a consideration of $100,000. She married him and her lawyers drew up a contract in which she agreed to pay him the $100,000.

Her deceased husband, Mr. Nagle, who had been prominent in politics as well as in the commercial and financial world, had left her a large fortune, but her various properties were not readily convertible, and so she was able to pay White but $25,000 as his cash due.

The case was opened by W. H. Safford, of counsel for White, who asked that the hearing be postponed until to-morrow in New York city. After hearing opposing counsel, Gov. Flower said: "In one case where I granted a stay the man was saved from death in Texas. I believe in giving an accused every chance. I will postpone this hearing until to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock in the Windsor hotel in New York."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

Mr. Thomas Taylor Has a Word.

To the Editor: The MIGHTY MAN with his PEN (?) has been heard from again. As usual he dodges the question and continues to misconstrue. His love for sarcasm seems to have blunted his capacity for genuine argument. The fact remains, however, that the high protective policy operates against an extension of trade in both wheat and flour.

The MIGHTY MAN with his PEN (?) prefers a policy that would swamp the milling industry and bankrupt the farmer in order that himself and pals may be able to buy the products of the farm at ruinous prices. The MIGHTY MAN with his PEN (?) forgets that upon the prosperity of the farmer depends the prosperity of the industrial community.

'Tis well that all do not view this matter as does the MIGHTY MAN with his PEN (?). The November election will settle the question and we do not believe the results will afford the MIGHTY MAN with his PEN (?) a bowl of Quale soup either.

THOS. A. TAYLOR.

MRS. HARRISON DEAD.

Wife of the President Passes Away.

A Long Struggle Against the Destroyer.

Brief Sketch of the Woman Who Has Had a World's Sympathies During Her Illness.

Washington, Oct. 25.—Mrs. Harrison died at 2 o'clock this morning. The flag at the white house was not raised this morning. The fountains in the grounds were stopped and the blinds of the windows of the mansion were drawn down. Two policemen guarded the entrance to the grounds to prevent invasion by the curious, but there was no necessity for their services.

The department employes in the adjoining great war, state and navy building on one side and in the treasury on the other side passed to their morning duties in silence and all the passersby respected the grief of the presidential household and did not seek to intrude upon the privacy of the executive mansion and grounds.

A constant but almost noiseless stream of carriages passed over the asphalt pavement driving in at the eastern entrance, and after leaving cards of condolence at the main door of the white house, drove out by the carriage exit to the west.

A chilly spell of weather has succeeded the Indian summer of the last few days and the first frost of autumn last night nipped the beautiful foliage of the white house gardens.

Over all the government offices and over the hotels and many of the business buildings the flags were at half mast.

From the hour when the white house was closed quiet had reigned until the usual time for opening the mansion. President Harrison retired and obtained some rest; when he reappeared this morning he bore himself with the calmness and fortitude that comes from dependence upon a higher power and a resignation to the mandates of His will.

He was, of course, suffering greatly from the blow that had fallen, no less severe because long delayed, and long expected, but his morning greeting was as much like the usual one as could have been expected.

The family breakfasted together, and the little ones learned of the great loss they had sustained in the hours of sleep. They have sadly missed "grandma" in the months that have passed, for above all other joys Mrs. Harrison appreciated the companionship and care, as well, of the children of the household. The love of both the president and herself for them was one of the beautiful and prominent features of home life in the White House.

After breakfast the president retired to his room, as did the ladies, also Mrs. McKee and Mrs. Dimmick, upon whom the greater portion of the burden of the illness of Mrs. Harrison has fallen, were feeling the effects of the long strain they had undergone and perforce sought rest and quiet. They are in no otherwise the worse and will be able soon to resume the wonted duties of life.

The ushers were early required to receive the cards of callers who came with messages of condolence or on business connected with the sad event.

Among the first to arrive was Rev. Dr. Hamlin, the president's pastor, Attorney General Miller, Secretary Tracy, Postmaster General Wanamaker and Assistant Secretary of War Grant, who remained sometime in consultation with Private Secretary Halford and Mr. McKee.

Mr. R. A. Parke, district passenger agent of the Pennsylvania railroad, who was consulted with regard to the transportation of the funeral party to Indianapolis, was also among the early visitors. The arrangements for the funeral are yet incomplete, but there will be private services in the Blue room of the white house to-morrow morning conducted by Dr. Hamlin, and services at Indianapolis in the First Presbyterian church, of which the president and Mrs. Harrison were for many years active members, on Thursday.

These will be in charge of Rev. Matthew L. Haines, D. D., who was pastor of the church when the family came to Washington.

The mortuary train will probably be run as a section of the Pennsylvania limited, leaving here at 11 o'clock to-morrow morning and reaching Indianapolis at 8 a. m., Thursday.

A great number of telegrams conveying messages of sympathy and sorrow have been received at the white house from all parts of the country. They have not yet been brought to the notice of the president and none will be made public until he has been made acquainted with them.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.
SAN FRANCISCO. LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N.Y.

One of the first came from Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland. Mrs. Harrison's body lay undisturbed until 10 o'clock this morning, when Undertaker W. R. Speare and assistants took charge and prepared it for examination by Dr. Gardner.

On October 1, 1832, the house of Rev. John D. Witherspoon Scott, a Presbyterian divine, president of the Oxford, Ohio, female college, was made happy by the birth of a daughter. At that time Andrew Jackson swayed the destinies of the country and Emily Donelson, wife of his private secretary, and Sarah Yorks Jackson, wife of his foster son, divided the honors of the social administration of the executive mansion.

In the Presbyterian church at Oxford the Rev. Henry Little, a noted minister of that day, christened the infant daughter Caroline Lavina Scott. Upon her marriage Mrs. Harrison appears to have dropped the middle name and substituted for it her family name of Scott and few persons knew that she ever bore the appellation of Lavina. Dr. Scott belonged to an old Pennsylvania family, his birth occurring in Bucks county, that state, in the first year of the century. When he was a youth in Philadelphia he met a young lady named Mary Neal. The young couple became much attached to each other, but circumstances intervened to separate them. The young lady's father was a bank cashier in Philadelphia. About the time she was entering the most interesting age of maiden life he removed to Washington, Pa., taking his family with him, to found and manage a bank in the interest of eastern capitalists.

About the same time Mr. Scott, having completed his educational and theological studies, went to Washington, Pa., as an instructor in the old Washington college before it was united with its rival, Jefferson college, of Canonsburgh. The old acquaintances were renewed, and soon after Mary Neal, the bank cashier's daughter, became the wife of John W. Scott, professor.

Some 40 miles in a northwesterly direction from Cincinnati, O., is the rural town of Oxford. As early as 1826 it was made the seat of Miami university, founded under the patronage of the state. These important educational interests subsequently led to the establishment of the Oxford seminary. Of the former Rev. John W. Scott had become president.

There was a student at Oxford at this time named Benjamin Harrison. He had passed from Farmer's college into the Miami university and graduated at the age of 18 years, a tribute in itself to his industry and mental capabilities. The young student, in the midst of his pursuit of learning, found himself overtaken in love, and Dr. Scott's daughter was the object of his affection. John Scott Harrison, the father of the student, was too warm-hearted and liberal to lay by much of earth's stores, or even to take a selfish care of what he received by inheritance. The patrimonial estate had diminished in acres and the family exchequer in cash under his management, which left Benjamin to make his own way, with a good education as his capital and the world as his field for investment. It was a trying situation to sever the tender ties which held him at Oxford for the unemotional experiences of a student-at-law in the office of Bellamy Storer and G. Wynn, of Cincinnati. He finished his toilsome journey up the rugged path of jurisprudence and the first thing thereafter wended his way back to Oxford.

On October 20, 1853, he there made Miss Carrie Scott his wife. The happiness of their lives commencing from that date has known no diminution nor change until death came to separate them. Their fondness for their home and the pleasure they took in the family circle and its joys filled their horizon and gave an example of conjugal affection that all the world is better for knowing about.

The prospects in life for the young couple were not bright, as the world goes, but the young people were full of hope. Their united fortunes in love made them contented, and with happy hearts and willing hands they crossed the threshold of life's duties together.

Their honeymoon was passed under the paternal roof at North Bend, below Cincinnati. The estate impinged in the boundary line of Indiana. In the following March the young couple went to Indianapolis. In addition to the care bestowed upon her education, the young wife was trained in household duties.

The cash capital at the command of Benjamin Harrison when he began married life and the practice of his profession was $800, an advance on a lot in Cincinnati inherited through his aunt, who married James Finlay, a soldier of the war of 1812. Mr. and Mrs. Harrison began their domestic responsibilities in rooms in an Indianapolis boarding house. In the summer of 1854 Mrs. Harrison paid a visit to her parents at the old home at Oxford, and there, on August 12, Russell Harrison, their eldest child, was born. After this event in the family circle, the young mother having returned in the autumn to Indianapolis, the proud husband rented a small house and began life in earnest, his faithful and industrious wife doing her own household work in a cottage of three rooms. The steady gains in fame, practice and pecuniary rewards in two years found Mrs. Harrison presiding over a larger and more pretentious house. Here their second and last child, Mary Scott Harrison, was born.

The couple steadily grew in the estimation of their neighbors and Mr. Harrison achieved fame in politics. In 1881 Gen. Harrison entered the senate of the United States and Mrs. Harrison became a member of that distinguished circle, the Wives of Senators. In her Washington residence of six years Mrs. Harrison extended her sphere of usefulness. Her name was associated with noble charities and church work. The Garfield hospital owes its present success in a large degree to her active interest as one of its first directors.

When the family came to the white house, Dr. Scott, who had resided here with his widowed daughter, Mrs. Russell Lord, went to live with them and, resigning his position in the pension office, gave up all active duties to enjoy the first leisure of a busy life under the white house roof. From that day until stricken down with her fatal illness he was the object of the tenderest care and solicitude on the part of Mrs. Harrison, and, indeed, of the entire household. The first break in the united circle was the death of Mrs. Lord, which occurred December 10, 1889, after the family had returned to town after their summer and autumn travels. Mrs. Lord's serious illness began at Nantucket, where she was staying with her daughter and where Mrs. Harrison visited also for a time. After being carried to New York, where the latter followed her and stayed almost to the last, she was brought to this city and died a day or two later. Mrs. Harrison and the family were present at the last sad scenes and Mrs. Harrison was a long time recovering from the blow. The sisters were greatly attached and were always together as much as possible.

At the beginning of the grip epidemic Mrs. Harrison shared the fate of her entire household save the president. Before she was taken down, however, she nursed all the rest, even her little grand children, who were extremely ill. Several times afterward she suffered again from all the painful symptoms of the first attack, and especially so last spring a year ago, upon her return from California, when she brought back with her a troublesome cough. Although she had another bad spell while at Cape May last summer, she returned in the autumn with her general health so much improved that she no longer allowed her family to look on her as a semi-invalid. Throughout the winter she went about her usual duties with her old time vigor and it was but seldom that she did not appear at the social functions of the mansion. At the approach of spring her extreme pallor showed that she was not feeling as well as usual, but she did not give up until the day when she was not able to rise from her bed. During the Lenten days last spring, there was such a pressure of callers upon her that she set aside certain afternoons in each week to see visitors. She was generally present, but if not was represented by the other ladies of the household. At the very latest date, however, of this series, Wednesday, April 6, she was in the blue parlor and held a brilliant reception from 5 to 6. The afternoon was excessively warm and all the doors and windows were opened. She coughed nearly every time she spoke and seemed to be suffering considerably. That evening she was very hoarse and her physician was summoned.

Her last illness began that night, and but few of her friends have seen her since. For weeks the invalid was not conscious of anything going on outside of her own room, and, as will be remembered, she knew nothing at all of the events of the Minneapolis convention nor of Mr. Blaine's resignation until the renomination of Mr. Harrison was an assured fact. After that to again arouse her interest and keep her mind from dwelling too much on her own condition, the doctor advised that the daily papers be read to her, and in fact all the ordinary news of the day be discussed in her presence. Toward the last of her stay in this city there were many days when she was able to go out riding. She was always carried down stairs by Sergeant Kenney, of Arctic fame, one of the doorkeepers for whom she had a special liking, to her carriage that waited near the south portico. When she returned from these short drives she was carried upstairs again. The day she left town for Loon lake there were few who saw her who ever supposed that she would return alive.

In appearance Mrs. Harrison was a type of matronly beauty. In figure she showed the generosity of nature and in mind nature's equal beneficence, expanded by training in the acquirements of a liberal education drawn from the broadest opportunities. A lavish growth of hair, silvered with the threads of a little over a half century of life and floating in curly waves over a well-shaped head and ending in a graceful coil, her regular features and dark, expressive eyes formed a picture of ripened womanhood. She had a voice softened by the instincts of a gentle nature and a gift of conversation which, while animated, was thoughtful.

The tastes of Mrs. Harrison were in the direction of art. Her works in water colors are the evidences of her gifts and application to her favorite recreation.

Mrs. Harrison was by nature strongly domestic, and shank from notoriety. Those traits were little, if at all, modified by her residence in the White House and her proud position as first lady in the land. For her friends she had always a generous welcome, but she did not relish the scrutiny of the critical and coldly curious, although much of this she was perforce from her position obliged to endure. She was always equal to every social demand, and by her winning manner and sympathetic utterances succeeded in making and retaining an unusually large number of friendships. But the calls of society were with her second in importance to the demands and duties of a wife, mother and daughter, and it was in the domestic sphere that she shone with the brightest light. She wished everybody around her to be happy, and to that end she gave her best efforts. She desired to earn and keep the love of her family and her personal friends, so her goodness, sympathy and strong home instincts were dominant characteristics.

The history of Mrs. Harrison's last and fatal illness is best told in the language of her physician, Dr. Frank A. Gardner, of this city, and is as follows:

Mrs. Harrison's illness was the outcome of an attack of grip during the winter of 1889-90, which left her with a cough lasting for several weeks. While at Cape May point in the summer of 1891, she contracted a cold which lasted during the entire summer. She was well enough, however, during the winter to attend to the exacting social functions developing on the mistress of the white house, but in January, 1892, the cough which had never entirely left her commenced again to trouble her considerably. While it was not severe enough to confine her to the house, it was sufficient to require frequent medical treatment. In the following March she had a second attack of the grip, followed this time by catarrhal pneumonia, lasting about nine days.

The coughing spells then increased in severity until at last they were accompanied by bloody expectorations, and about the 1st of May she suffered from a hemorrhage of the lungs, which, although not very severe, caused great prostration. An examination of the lungs several days later revealed a dullness at the apex of the right lung. From this time until July 6, the date of her removal to Loon Lake, N. Y., there was a rise of temperature of about three degrees each night and her respiration, at that time averaged about 40 per minute. Several days after her arrival at Loon Lake she commenced to improve. Her appetite and strength increased and the fever gradually became less. The cough and expectoration also diminished.

Subsequently she was able to take daily drives of several miles, but this improvement was of short duration and an examination made September 1 showed that the upper half of her right lung was completely consolidated. Notwithstanding this condition she was able to continue her daily drives up to September 7, on which date she was stricken down with an attack of sub-acute pleurisy, accompanied by an effusion of fibro-serous fluid completely filling the cavity of the pleura on the right side, necessitating aspirating or tapping three times. It was during the existence of the complication that a consultation was held by Dr. Gardner, of Washington, Dr. Doughty, of New York, and Dr. Trudeau, of Saranac, N. Y., resulting in the issuance September 14, of a bulletin to the public announcing that Mrs. Harrison was afflicted with tuberculosis complicated with pleurisy and nervous prostration and that the result was uncertain.

At the time of Mrs. Harrison's removal to Washington September 20, her right lung was completely consolated. The disease progressed steadily resisting treatment with every known remedy until eventually she left lung became involved and then the condition of the patient was hopeless. The case was complicated from the very first by extreme nervous prostration which persistently resisted every remedy known to medical science.

About the 1st of May the case assumed a serious aspect, and Dr. Frank E. Daughty, of New York, a physician of acknowledged skill in the treatment of pulmonary and nervous disorders, was called to Washington for consultation and from that time until her departure from Loon Lake, visited the patient at short intervals. Soon after the pleuritic complications set in, Dr. Trudeau, who has a sanatarium at Saranac Lake, N. Y., for the treatment of cases of tuberculosis was also called in consultation. He agreed with other physicians as to the serious nature of the disease and was not able to offer the president the least encouragement as to the result.

In May last Dr. Gardner informed the president that Mrs. Harrison had incipient tuberculosis and suggested her removal at once to the Adirondacks as the most suitable place for the treatment of her case. The history of the case, however, shows that she derived no benefit from her visit there and that the insiduous disease was undoubtedly too deep-seated to have yielded to any agency. Certainly nothing within the knowledge of the medical profession that could possibly tend to alleviate her sufferings or tend to a cure was left untried, but to no avail.

HOSS AND HOSS TO-NIGHT

The Midnight Alarm at the People's.

The Songs That Reed and Collier Will Sing This Evening—At the Wonderland.

Reed and Collier and their company of comedians will play an engagement here at Wheeler's this evening, in the very latest complication of that notable farcial extreme, entitled Hoss and Hoss, which is fully up to the times. Manager Wm. Smith's record is pre-eminent as an originator of talented farceurs, and if names indicate excellence the present company should be gilt edge. In the company are Arthur Moulton, J. B. Gentry, Dan Baker, J. W. Myers, H. M. Heckert, David Andrada, J. C. Murchie, C. J. Clark, Jos. Maguire, Louise Allen, Adele Farrington, Helena Collier, Marie Celeste, Helen Reimer, May Jordan and a fine quartet. In the line of farce comedy "Hoss and Hoss" is the most notable success of recent years, and one of the secrets of its success can be found in the personel of the company. They are people who have learned all the requirements of farceurs in the school of minstrelsy, specialty, legitimate comedy and opera, and who have profited by the demands of the public for a class of amusements which shall be at once amusing and refined. Innumerable innovations have taken place in the performance since it scored its extraordinary success here. The new features are said to be right up to date; the present engagement will act as a surprise to those who before enjoyed its benefactions of laughter.

Reed and Collier are a strong team of comedians who keep their audience in a continuous roar from the rise to the fall of the curtain. They are famous for having all the latest parodies and topical songs and will introduce many, including the following: "He Didn't Wink His Eye," "I'm Another," "Give Him Ta Ra Boom Da Ra," "I Didn't Break the Bank at Monte Carlo," and "The Kid's Fourth of July;" also, incidental to the play interpreted by other members of the company, are: "The American Beau Brummels," "Jingle of the Bells," "Hey, Rube," and "Will o' the Wisp." "The Bowery Ball," a New York sensation, a feature which created furore last season, will be repeated at both performances here, together with innumberable new ones.

There is a plot in the piece, though not a very cumbersome one and not enough to interfere with the introduction of its many incidents and specialties.

The Midnight Alarm.

The Midnigh tAlarm drew a large audience to the People's theater last evening. This is an interesting story of the wicked metropolis. The vallain and his accomplices, exult over the weak and innocent, but right conquers, and the villain commits suicide, etc.

Then there are the realistic scenic effects more lifelike than ever; a railway drawbridge that actually swings, the lightning express, that flies; a regulation fire engine and team, all of which go to make the Midnight Alarm a puller.

At the Wonderland.

The Wonderland is giving one of the best performances of the season this week. The features in the musee are excellent, novel, a first class stage performance is to be seen at the theater. The Wonderland is just the place for ladies and children to spend the afternoon.

THE BEST IS THE CHEAPEST!

Official Test of Rubber-Lined Cotton Fire Hose by the Board of Fire Commissioners of Duluth, Minn., February 25, 1892.

The Board of Fire Commissioners of the city of Duluth, Minn., recently received proposals from manufacturers of fire hose to furnish the city with additional hose for fire department service.

Owing to the fact that every agent present upon that occasion, claimed to represent the ONLY brand of hose that could be depended upon to discharge the greatest quantity of water, all other conditions being equal, the commissioners finally resolved to satisfy themselves, and declared in favor of having a public test. Manufacturers who desired to enter the test were requested to furnish 500 feet of hose, with Duluth fire department couplings attached.

Seven competitors entered the field. Each line of hose—500 feet—was attached to a steam fire engine, and subjected to a water pressure of 200 lbs. to the square inch, and discharged water through 1 1-8-inch smooth bore nozzle. Note the result:

Name of Company	Brand of Hose.	Weight of Hose per Section	Effective Pressure at Nozzle.	Gall'ns Discharg'd per Minute	Ratio in Gals Discharg'd per Hr.	No. of gal. less per hr. than discharg'd by the surprise hose.	Elongation of Hose.
Eureka Fire Hose Co...	Surprise Jacket....	59½ lbs	95 lbs	309	21,540	000	11⅛ ft
C. Callahan Co.....	Callahan Jacket...	59½ lbs	89 lbs	247	20,820	720	14 ft
Gutta Percha Mfg. Co..	Baker Fabric	48½ lbs	85 lbs	239	20,340	1200	82 ft
Fabric Fire Hose Co....	Unique Jacket.....	63½ lbs	84 lbs	237	20,220	1320	95 ft
Chicago Fire Hose Co...	National Jacket...	61 lbs	83½ lbs	234	20,040	1500	44 ft
Revere Rubber Co.....	American Jacket..	62½ lbs	80 lbs	229	19,740	1800	14 ft
Boston Woven Hose Co	Boston Fire Jacket	52 lbs	79 lbs	227	19,620	1920	27 ft

Owing to a high wind prevailing during the test, the distance reached by each stream was not taken into consideration.

The "Surprise" hose not only showed the best results at the nozzle but delivered the greatest quantity of water, and stretched less than any other hose that entered the test.

SUDDEN AND STARTLING.

What Is It? What Is the Matter?

Women are great sufferers from nervousness, weakness, female complaints, kidney and liver diseases, nervous prostration and debility. Thousands droop and languish in close, confined shops, factories or offices, and hundreds of thousands wear out their nerve power in household cares and work.

What wonder that they become worn out in nerve and vital power, and have great weakness, exhaustion, pain in back and limbs and the distressing female complaints caused by loss of vital strength!

The great nerve invigorator and female restorative is Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. No remedy in the world is so sure to bring back the bloom and color to the cheek, the brilliancy to the eyes, the elasticity to the step, the strength and vitality to the unstrung, shattered and worn out nerves. It is the greatest of all uterine tonics and regulators, and cures all female weakness, kidney and liver complaints, constipation and irregularities. All weak and suffering women should use this wonderful remedy immediately. Purely vegetable and harmless. Druggists, $1.00.

"For three years I have suffered intensely with general debility and nervous prostration. So worn out was I that I would have frequent fainting spells, alarming myself and friends. I found immediate relief on taking the first dose of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and was recovering before one-half bottle was used. The use of five bottles effected a complete cure. I can heartily recommend it to those afflicted in like manner. Mrs. M. Walsh, 8 Second street, Providence, R. I."

Dr. Greene, the most successful specialist in curing all forms of nervous and chronic diseases, 35 W. 14th street, New York, can be consulted free, personally or by letter. Call or write him about your case or send for symptom blank to fill out, and a letter fully explaining your disease, giving advice, etc., will be returned free.

Gets a Dose of the Workhouse—The Abduction Case.

The Rev. J. T. Olive was given $50 and costs and 30 days in the workhouse, in police court this morning, for being a suspicious character. The most suspicious thing about the reverend gentleman was that in his grip with his Bible he carried a pack of cards and a whisky flask. He had something to do with the alleged Rev. Robert King, who came here with a 14-year-old girl last week from Veraisville, Ky. The girl, it is found, was abducted by the negroes. She is the daughter of Deputy Sheriff Steele, of Varaisville, Ky. He came to Toledo and took the girl home.

CRIMINAL CARLESSNESS

On the Part of a Pumber—Another Damage Suit.

Gas pipes are being laid on Bartlett street, and the plumber having the matter in charge, has left uncovered and unsignaled two large holes about six feet deep and four feet in diameter, between Ewing and Wells streets.

Into one of these holes a horse belonging to Mr. F. O. Cone plunged as that gentleman was driving down Bartlett street about 9:30 last evening.

The street at this point is very dark, the hole is directly in the road, and no light or signal of any kind marked the dangerous place.

The horse was bent almost double, and lay struggling in the cramped position for nearly half an hour, while a dozen or two men were making strenuous efforts to get him out, which they finally succeeded in doing.

Mr. Cone was thrown out and considerably bruised and shaken, the buggy was broken, and the horse, a valuable animal, is probably completely ruined, all because this dangerous place was left with no sign or light.

There were a hundred or two witnesses to the affair, and Mr. Cone has ample evidence for a heavy damage suit.

THE REGISTRATION.

Comparison of This and Last Year's Figures.

The registration of the second day this year shows a gain of 567 over that of the same day in 1891, and the registration for the two days this year a gain of 1,943 over the first two days of last year, the figures being 11,648 as against 9,705. The gain in the two days is thus 20 per cent., and should this rate of increase be continued on the total registration of last year, 16,398, that of this year would reach 19,677.

Compared with the second day of last year the registration last Thursday was smaller in the Second, Third, and Fourth wards, the Second dropping 31, the Third 26, and the Fourth 6; while the other six wards increased as follows: First, 94; Fifth, 71; Sixth, 98; Seventh, 65; Eighth, 318; and Ninth, 54, over the second day of 1891.

A comparison of the two days' registration of the wards last year and this year shows a falling off in the Second of 6 names.

The gains in the other wards are: First, 275; Third, 33; Fourth, 109; Fifth, 88; Sixth, 355; Seventh, 353; Eighth, 543; and Ninth, 183.

Register on Friday.

The organ over on the corner appeared to be very angry last evening. "Whom the gods," etc.

A vote for Judge Scribner is a vote to maintain the high standing of the circuit court in this judicial district.

Toledo has as enterprising merchants as are to be found in any city. The Bee's advertising columns attest this fact.

Some of the wards of the city are not registering their vote as they ought. Attend to his important duty on Friday and Saturday.

If democrats register on Friday and Saturday there will be no question about victory on the second Tuesday in November. Register.

"Cut Ashley" is the rallying cry among the railroaders of the Ninth district. Byron Ritchie will be the next congressman. Vote for him.

Ashley's speech last evening was nothing more nor less than a pitiable plea for help. His very manner gave evidence that he considers himself beaten.

It may be stated that there were several delegates in the Ashley convention who will not vote for the nominee. It is not necessary to give names, but it is the truth just the same.

Judge Cooley, of Michigan, stands by his declaration that he will vote for Grover Cleveland, notwithstanding the efforts made by the republicans to make the veteran jurist hedge.

Where was Cumback of Indiana last evening? There are hundreds of staunch republicans who have left that party never to come back. Cumback was billed as one of the speakers of the evening.

Gen. Stevenson, democratic candidate for vice-president, has been actively engaged in campaign work since the convention. His speeches are concise and to the point. He is doing his share to bring about victory.

The republican majority in this congressional district is not as reliable as it might be. Lucas county alone can change the result, and it is more than probable such will be done. Ashley has no assurance that he will carry his own county.

H. H. Cushing, the Toledo real estate man, is bound to achieve success in his undertakings. He goes at his business in an enthusiastic manner, and uses a whole page of the daily newspaper if that amount is necessary to get it before the public.

Republicans who desire to vote for Mr. Ritchie, and they are numerous, will place a cross in front of his name. It would be better to make an X at the head of the democratic ticket this time and let it go at that, but if this is not done, then a mark must be placed for such democrats as are desired to be voted for.

The Western Christian Advocate this week mourns because of the fact that space assigned to the Methodist church at the world's fair had not been taken, and it will be added to the Roman Catholic portion. Not enough interest was taken by the denomination to use even the small area allotted to it.

The Blade is not generally accepted as good authority on anything except it be on pulverizing the rum power, but its published records of James M. Ashley, printed over 20 years ago, can be accepted in good faith. All the charges that have been preferred against Mr. Ashley can be and have been corroborated from the columns of the Blade. In fact the Blade is the basis and authority for all the alleged attacks that have been made on its present candidate for congress.

Is the Blade a better or stronger republican paper now than it was 30 years ago when the facile and stringent pen of the redoubtable Nasby made traitors and cowards quake?

DEMOCRATS, BE ON GUARD.

It behooves democrats to be on their guard between now and election day.

It behooves them to be on the lookout for roorbacks. The Harrisonian managers in their desperation are capable of any mischief.

But it behooves them, over and above all else, to REGISTER.

Friday and Saturday next are the two last days for registering. Every democrat owes it to himself, to the party and to the country to register so that he can vote.

Register and see to it that your democratic neighbor registers.

Register, so that you may have the glorious privilege of voting for the next president of the United States—Grover Cleveland.

DEATH OF MRS. HARRISON.

The festivities and merrymaking of the past week have been brought to a sorrowful close by the sore affliction that has fallen upon President Harrison in the death of his beloved wife. And, as the whole nation, regardless of party, creed or color, unitedly honored the memory of the discoverer of the land, so do they mourn with its chief magistrate in his trouble.

Death obliterates party lines, and political bias and animosity is shrouded in the cloak of charity and sympathy. There is only the knowledge that within the white house, cold and still in death, lies all that remains of a loving, faithful wife, a tender and devoted mother, a womanly woman, who filled her high position as chief lady of the land, with a dignity, beneficence and graciousness that will endear and perpetuate her memory in every American home.

No higher or more eulogistic praise can be bestowed than this: She was a perfect type of all that is best in American womanhood, wifehood, motherhood.

The best this life could give was hers, but she has answered the heavenly summons to a fairer, brighter home.

Her death like her life, was full of hope and promise, for she had chosen the better part, and this thought alone, pierces through the pall of gloom that has overspread the nation.

THE INIQUITOUS FORCE BILL.

It is inconceivable how any honest voter can support a party that indorses and advocates such an un-American monstrosity as the Force bill, so-called.

The bill proposes to give the republican federal officers full control of all elections. It provides for the appointment of a chief supervisor in each judicial district, and his appointment shall be for life. He will have power to examine voters under oath and to make arrests.

He will be a republican appointee and will have the power to appoint three assistants—two republicans and one democrat. Thus the republicans will have practically full control of all elections, whether they be in power or not.

The chief supervisor will have the power to appoint double the number of assistants that can be required in the whole district. By this plan the republican party can pay at the polls an army of workers out of the United States treasury.

The supervisor will have power to strike names from the polling lists at will.

He will have access to the registration books at all times.

He is to make a house to house canvass of persons registered in cities of 20,000 population and upward.

Think of such a weapon in the hands of fellows like Quay, Dudley or Davenport!

It is unconstitutional and un-American, and it is to the interest of honest republicans, as well as democrats, to see that the party that indorses it should be defeated.

Think what chance Foraker, for instance, would have had against John Sherman with all the federal patronage at his beck and back, during the recent senatorial battle with such a law administered by Sherman followers!

The advocacy of such a damnable piece of legislation by any party should assure its defeat, even if there were no other issues before the people.

The democrat who, by failing to register, misses the opportunity of rebuking the Force bill advocates by his vote, is unworthy the name of democrat.

Register on Friday or Saturday.

PRESTON C. HUDSON.

The Democratic Nominee for Common Pleas Judge.

The people are learning that the quiet, scholarly man who has been nominated for common pleas judge by the democratic party is one of the most logical and profound lawyers in this or any other state.

His reputation was first established by a masterly argument before the supreme court of Iowa, in 1876, in which he combatted against five decisions of that court, the unjust and inequitable principle that a purchaser of land, who takes a mere quit claim deed, cannot be protected in his title against latent defects of which he had no notice. No more logical or exhaustive legal argument was ever made, and no lawyer ever received a more flattering tribute to his ability than was paid to Mr. Hudson in that case by the court and bar.

From that time his reputation grew until, when he left the state 10 years ago, he ranked as one of the foremost lawyers.

Now, after 10 years' absence from his old home, republicans and democrats alike join in a spontaneous telegram of congratulation and tell him that if he had remained there they would have put him on the bench long ago.

The Bee says earnestly to the people of this district, that they will make no mistake if they vote for the man who is thus spontaneously and cordially indorsed by Duncombe, who, as the leader of the democratic party of Iowa, placed Boies in nomination for president at the Chicago convention; by Carpenter, who was twice elected governor of Iowa; by Dolliver, the great republican orator, who, at 30 years of age, is the intimate friend and associate of Blaine and Depew, and by Wright, who has no superior as a lawyer in his state, and who, as Mr. Hudson's college classmate and former law partner, knows and appreciates him better than any other man in the world.

SYMPATHY FOR THE PRESIDENT.

At a special meeting of the democratic county central and executive committees held this morning, the following resolution sympathizing with President Harrison in the death of his wife was passed and wired to Washington:

Toledo, O., Oct. 25, 1892.
The President, White House, Washington:

We mourn with the nation in the loss of your dearly beloved wife, and offer condolence in this hour of your great bereavement.

D. H. COMMAGER,
Chairman Dem. Ex. Com.
M. M. EPPSTEIN,
Chairman Co. Cent. Com.
C. W. MURPHY, Secretary.

POWERS—REAGAN MARRIAGE.

At the Immaculate Conception Church This Morning.

This morning at the Immaculate Conception church occurred the marriage of Mr. Ed Powers and Miss Mame Reagan. Mr. John Curry was best man, while Miss Kate Mason, a sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid. After the ceremonies the happy couple partook of an elegant breakfast at the home of the bride on Segur avenue. The young couple were the recipients of a large number of presents. They have the best wishes of a large circle of friends. This evening a reception will be held. Mr. and Mrs. Powers will commence housekeeping at once in an elegantly furnished house on Oliver street.

Register on Friday.

WANTED---A FLAG.

Who Pays for the Banner, Jim Ashley Won't.

He'll Be D—d If He Does, They'll Be D—d If He Don't.

So the Battle at Headquarters Goes on Right Bravely.

They want a banner over at republican headquarters and they want it bad.

They have wanted it ever since Harrison was nominated.

Of course when Ashley was nominated for congress they knew it would be all right.

Jim Southard talked of the matter a couple of times, but Ashley preferred votes to banners and didn't take kindly to the idea.

Jim Ashley, jr., was going to New York the other day, and Manager Southard happened onto the opportunity of springing the idea again.

"Jim," he said, "the boys want a banner. You better get one and send it on when you're down there."

"You want me to get one at headquarters?"

"Yes, a banner to fling across the street, you know. We can have your father's picture on it. See?"

Jim said he would attend to it as soon as he reached New York.

Ada he did. The banner arrived in the city yesterday by express, but accompanying was a missive with this legend:

"C. O. D.—$175."

"This is a —— of a nice business," Manager Southard said warmly. "Does Jim Ashley suppose we are going to pay to have his father's picture hung up in the streets of Toledo? Now, see here, Ashley seems to be suspicious of us. I want this understood if this thing is not settled to-day, I will close up these headquarters. I'm tired of this business."

Bless your heart, Jim Ashley won't trust one of his own boys.

He handles the bung of that barrel himself.

As John Gibert would say:

He'll keep his own notes and buy his own votes. For he's getting a big boy now.

Will Get Even Now.

To the Editor: Mr. Ashley, the candidate for congressman, and who is president of the Ann Arbor road, is no friend of the workingman. About seven years ago sparks from his locomotive burned seven acres of corn belonging to me at Hawthorne Station, Mich. I repeatedly asked him for pay for the corn, but he refused, saying the company was in debt and he could not pay anything. Two years ago he was running for congress, and I went to his son Jim's office. I asked him for the pay, and he said it was outlawed, and he would give me nothing. I told him if he did not, I would let the public know what a good friend he was to the workingman. He took me by the neck and shoved me out of the office door.

That is the kind of a friend Ashley is to the workingman.

JOHN O'FARRELL.
1720 Canton avenue, Toledo.

Ashley, the Enemy of Labor.

To the Editor: Mr. Ashley in his address to the Train Dispatchers' association, of Toledo, says:

Intelligent men comprehend that the first duty of all railroad men, employer and employed, is to stand together. The interest of one is beyond question the interest of all.

Six years ago I was employed by Mr. Ashley to take 250 men to a point on the Ann Arbor road, where there was trouble between the Lansing & Detroit railroad and Mr. Ashley regarding the right of way. Mr. Ashley instructed me to hire the men at 20 cents an hour. We went there armed and equipped and ready to sell our lives in the interests of our employer. We remained four days and nights and on our return we were paid at the rate of $2 a day and charged 75 cents each for every meal eaten while absent. Mr O'Conners, now superintendent of the Ann Arbor road, was our paymaster, and when we rebelled against the gross imposition, he told us that he was simply carrying out Mr. Ashley's instructions. We therefore got $1 or 25 cents a day for our services. I ask the public if a man capable of performing such a dastardly trick is to be believed now when he professes such undying love for the laboring men. Mr. Ashley in concluding his address to the Dispatchers says:

The whole world admires a just and manly man. It therefore requires no seer or prophet to predict that in every conflict with exacting and unjust managers such an organization of railroad workers as I have outlined, administered with prudence and dignity, will always win.

Mr. Ashley is right. The railroad workers who are now fighting Mr. Ashley's election, will win. "The unjust manager" of the Ann Arbor railway will be elected to remain at home.

E. F. W., Bancroft street.

Where was Dr. Smith and the heretofore faithful Germans of the Second ward in the parade last night? There's the rub. They were not in line last night, nor will they be on election day.

After a great many threats and much fuss the republican banner was strung across Summit street last evening. Who paid for it?

Who were those four prominent republicans that brought up the rear of the procession last evening? Locke, Curtis, Neg Cochran, Moses Math, Joe Cooper. How many of them will vote for Ashley? Echo answers, "How many?"

Including men, boys and musicians, there were just 555 people in the parade last night. Of these 300 were boys, and several got 50 cents each for marching. The parade was exactly eight minutes in passing. How was that for a parade?

Clincka H., the horse won by Manager Jim Southard at Charlie Hersig's raffle the other night, was ridden in the parade by the redoubtable Moxie last evening.

A prominent banker in New York writes a prominent Toledo banker, both republicans, that on the money question Grover Cleveland is much solider than Harrison, and that the best interests of the country will be subserved by the election of Mr. Cleveland. A copy of the letter is at democratic headquarters.

The most encouraging reports are coming in to democratic headquarters from all the wards and townships in the district. Victory is in the air.

The Boys' Democratic Marching club of the Eighth ward held a grand rally and had a pole raising at the corner of Twenty-second and Door streets last evening. Among the young hustlers who had charge of the affair were Masters Joseph Nester, William Spain, William Walley, Thos. Cavanaugh, Warney Gilday and Emmet Nester.

Moxie, J. J. Hauser and John Hoffmeyer led the Second warders last night. Dr. Smith and the other hustlers were absent.

Hartford's Impression.

Alderman Hartford, who has returned from Chicago, says the Ohio visitors were treated well; that the buildings at the fair grounds are in an unfinished condition, but the building in which the opening ceremonies were held seemed to be large enough to contain the world. He was delighted with the singing, and though he could not distinguish the words, he seemed to be "raised up and wafted away." He did not like Morton's speaking, but was enthusiastic over Depew.

TOLEDO'S NEED.

Organized or Associated Charities—Experience of One Who Knows Whereof He Speaks.

The true idea and object of charity should be to draw around the poor, the unfortunate, the miserable, the neglected, the forsaken and the evil, a circle of sympathy, affection, intelligent thought, and resolute will. The various charities needed to accomplish these ends, differ from each other in the special work they undertake, but all should unite in the common effort to strengthen that which is weak, and lift up that which is fallen down. But why wait till one has fallen before giving aid? Why not steady the one who is about to fall?

Herein is the need of a charity organization society that will comprehend all the charities of the city, and enlarge the work of all. "Everybody," says Arthur Hepps, in his essay on Organization in Daily Life, "knows what good results may be obtained by good organization; but it is well to see, by examination of the details, how amply men are repaid for even a little expense of thought and time given to methods of organization. * * * * There is another great branch of human endeavor, indeed the greatest, in which organization is especially necessary, and that is in the administration of charity."

In spite of all that is being done in the way of charitable relief, it is found in most of our cities:

1. That pauperism is steadily on the increase.

2. That the thoroughly deserving are those who do not seek, and therefore, very often do not get relief.

3. That the pauper, the imposter and the fraud of every description, carry off more than half of all charity, public and private; hence the waste in the charity fund of every large city.

4. That a very large part of all that is given in the name of charity, does positive harm by encouraging the poor to be idle, shiftless and improvident.

5. That but little effort is made, in most cities, to inculcate provident habits among the poor, or to establish provident schemes, based on business principles, that will ultimately lead the poor to become self-supporting.

If these propositions are approximately true, they present conditions that can be met in but one way, viz.: Through organization and association of effort. By this means expense is saved. Experiences are exchanged. The mistakes of one society are not repeated by another. No organization need fall out by the way, but all cases of need are distributed among them, in such a way as to receive the quickest and surest relief.

Opposed to association is individualism. Individualism in charity is that condition where each individual, society, or agency, work alone. Such a society or agency can profit by the experience of another society. A society working on this plan cannot avoid imposition, nor can it do complete work of charity as well as if it should ask other societies to help. In the association of charities, each does the special work for which is is best fitted by its organization and membership. One will tend the sick. Another will bring fuel and clothing. Another will furnish lodging for the stranger. Another, and usually the best, will provide work. Another will look after the children. By this means the special needs are met by special help. What the Good Samaritan could not do, the inn keeper could. They together formed the first charity organization society.

I find in the city directory no less than 25 societies in our good city, organized to do special work; and this, I presume, does not comprehend all the organizations for relief. And yet, individualism so cripples their efforts, that poverty is on the increase in this prosperous city, and the tramp, the professional beggar, and the occasional beggars, are to be met daily in our streets, and are found calling at our back doors for aid. In spite of all these organizations, there is a large class, often the most worthy, needing relief, that none of them touch. There are many cases of our giving that are harmful, because it seems to be nobody's business to look after these special cases. Hence we give to get rid of them. There is no arrangement in Toledo to apply the work test to detect beggars and mendicants. Many cases are honest and need relief, and work is often the best possible form of relief. Many others should be sent to the workhouse, instead of receiving alms. It should be somebody's business to turn them over to the police.

But the worst feature of individualism in charity is the rivalry between the societies in raising funds and soliciting help in their various needs. Each society has its solicitors, and while their purpose is good and noble, because of the methods employed, they are looked on by a great many men as beggars themselves. Men who expect to be asked for charity two or three times a week during the year will give far less money in the aggregate, than if they knew that every dollar given would be expended through business methods, and that they would be asked only once in the year to make a subscription or donation for charitable purposes. Each man knows about what he can afford to give, or what he is willing to give for that purpose, but so long as he does not know whether he will be asked 10 times or 25 times during the year, he is naturally going to make his contribution small enough to enable him to meet the other solicitations that he anticipates. The charities of our city are carried on at too great a waste of time, of money and of effort of the good men and women who are giving their thought, their time and their money to this object. The same amount of money expended through organized effort will accomplish far more good and accomplish it more satisfactorily.

By association of effort it is made possible to look after all. No one can fall between the spaces that usually separate societies, as is now the case. It is always somebody's business to listen to the story —to look into the case. An association of the charities now existing in this city, could give general relief to all; i. e. meet all the varied wants from the complete store of resources it would have at command.

By the association of charitable effort the cause of ill may be stopped. Conference on any subject reveals certain conditions not before known to exist. Then the number of men and women associated can do together what they could not do separately—they can mass their efforts, concentrate their energies, enlist their friends and educate a proper public sentiment. "When two of you are agreed as touching one thing," said Jesus, "it shall be done."

Who, among our noble men and women, will take hold of this matter and give the time, the thought and the effort necessary to bring about such results?

TOLEDO AND TOLEDOANS.

Bought An Insurance Company.

S. A. Court, Lincoln Smith, L. L. Smith, of Toledo, and W. T. Myers, of this city, have purchased the Home Insurance company, of this city, of which Q. A. Randall was president and J. P. Childs was secretary. The business will hereafter be conducted with headquarters in Toledo.—Tiffin Tribune.

Leaves, Regretted by Friends.

Miss Tillie Shallenmiller, stenographer with the Home Insurance company, and who has resided in Tiffin for a number of years, goes to Toledo on the 31st to accept a position with the Central Ohio Insurance company. Her many friends regret to have her leave the city.—Tiffin Advertiser.

Vote for Byron Ritchie.

Ashley wants to be congressman simply and solely for the honor. Ritchie wants it for the good he can do. The former is old and ready to retire. The latter has a future before him which he will zealously guard. Give us active, earnest, hopeful, honest men in the halls of congress and men of Boodler Ashley's stripe will sink forever below the political horizon.—North Baltimore Times.

He Wrote Right.

The editor of the Pemberville Leader has discovered that there is a city named Toledo and that the insane asylum that is located there is a model institution. He paid it a visit the other day and writes about it as follows:

At present the institution has 1,160 patients. The place presents the appearance of a well-regulated village. Streets are laid out in regular form, all being paved and shaded with maple trees. The sidewalks are of wide stone, which also extend up to the cottages, which are situated on both sides of the streets. Six hundred loaves of bread are baked daily and six and a half barrels of potatoes are consumed every day. The amusement hall and opera house has a seating capacity of 1,200. They have various kinds of amusements and a dance every Friday night. Everything presents a healthy looking appearance and the grounds, which consist of 180 acres, are well kept and traversed by gravel walks.—Fostoria Times.

A straw vote was taken at the Ohio state penitentiary the other day which resulted in 1,601 convict votes for Harrison and one for Cleveland. The Fostoria Times says that this is an instance where a democrat got into bad company.—North Baltimore Times.

A Little Severe.

Statistics show that American women are growing taller and the men are getting smaller. While American husbands are bending over desks and work-benches, American wives are stretching their necks to see what is on the bargain counters.—The Irontonian.

Afraid of Their Shadows.

The republicans are scared and have not the courage of their convictions. Their leaders have been challenged time and again to meet their opponents in joint debate, yet in every instance they have refused. Why is this, if they are right? There could be no better opportunity of getting to present their arguments to democrats.—Akron Times.

Come, Get the Prize.

A Hocking county paper reports a pumpkin down there eight feet in circumference. We should utter all sorts of exclamations of wonder and surprise at this did we not remember that the authority for the story is the same as that which last harvest time told us that a Hocking farmer cut a crop of wheat of which the sheaves were so numerous and large that he was obliged to shock them in a neighboring field, and when he threshed had to lease the county fair grounds for stacking the straw. After that we cannot be surprised at any tale coming from that quarter.—Columbus State Journal.

Now All Together.

With a strong pull and a pull all together the democrats can carry Ohio in the coming election. No man should for a moment think that Ohio will, year after year, cast its electoral vote for the republican presidential ticket. For many years the republican party, whenever it has carried Ohio, has done so by a minority of the vote, thus showing that a majority of the voters are opposed to the republican party and its misrule of public affairs. It only requires united support of the democratic candidates to bury the ruling party beneath an avalanche of votes. To vote for third party candidates is an ineffective manifestation of sentiment. Nothing is accomplished by it. A concentration of anti-republican effort will bring about the end sought. By voting at the coming election for the democratic electors and the entire democratic ticket the end desired by the opposition to republican domination will be attained.—Cleveland Plaindealer.

GOSSIP FROM THE OUTSIDE PRESS.

And Here Is an Instance.

Its Hidden Meaning.

"The republican outlook is exceedingly good—almost too good," is the startling remark of our esteemed contemporary, the Democrat and Chronicle. "Too good to be true" is probably what it means.—Rochester Herald.

They're After the Long Green.

Elkins, Republican Candidate for Governor Davis, George Wesley Atkinson and others drifted into town last night, and there is boodle and rumors of boodle. Keep your eye on republican headquarters. These gentlemen did not come here to see the parade.—Wheeling Register.

McKinley's Description of Carnegie's Fence.

"Portection is the wall between the American laborer and the pauper laborer of Europe," says McKinley. This is a very terse description of the fence that surrounds Carnegie's Homestead works. In this particular case, however, the "protected" American laborer is idle on the outside of the fence.—N. Y. World.

Cleveland's Noble Character.

That which most commends Grover Cleveland to the American people is his integrity and independence. Every line of every letter or speech typifies the magnificent character of the man. Andrew Jackson did not possess a better backbone, and the noblest democrat whose name can be mentioned was never more zealous in upholding the principles of true government, as they have been transmitted to us by the fathers of the republic.—N. Y. News.

Haven't Fattened on Republican Husks.

A dejected republican organ viciously remarks that "the negroes of Georgia and Florida appear to have swallowed the democratic ticket with the same greed with which they swallow a watermelon." The comparison is excellent. It seems that the digestion of the colored brethren in Georgia and Florida has not been impaired in the least by swallowing the democratic watermelon. They had been fed too long on the dry and deceptive husks of republican protection.—Philadelphia Record.

Too Fresh, Altogether.

"I come here fresh," said John B. Foraker, at Cooper Union, the other night, as he looked over the vast audience of New York republicans who had come to hear what cheer he had to offer on his return from the west, "from Kansas, Nebraska and Indiana." This was greeted with applause, the reporters say, for the great audience in an instant recognized the eternal truth of the declaration and knew Mr. Foraker could not come from anywhere otherwise.—Kansas City Star.

Not a Boodle Campaign.

The manufacturers of this city who contributed nearly half a million dollars to a political corruption fund in 1888 and were paid back ten-fold in additional tariff taxes by contract, are now importuned to submit to the "fat-frying" process again to assure the continuance of the taxes upon the people that they bargained and paid for four years ago. Some are responding liberally; some are responding reluctantly, with reduced gifts, and others are not responding at all. Those who don't pay will be wisest, for boodle can't win this year.—Philadelphia Times.

In vain the eyes are filled with light;
In vain the cheek with beauty glows,
Unless the teeth are pure and white,
Unless the breath is like the rose;
And SOZODONT alone supplies
These beauties that we all so prize.

PINKHAM'S . PROVERBIAL . PHILOSOPHY . . .

Coming events cast their shadows before.

The feeling of utter listlessness, lack of energy, desire to be alone, or the "don't care" feeling, are all shadows of coming events. No woman should permit those symptoms to gain ground, for, being forewarned, she should be forearmed. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will disperse all those shadows. It goes to the very root of all female complaints, renews the waning vitality, and invigorates the entire system. Surely such letters as this will support our claims:

DEAR MADAM.— . . . I think your Vegetable Compound saved my life; it is the best medicine for kidney and female troubles I ever saw. I induced my friends to use it, and it has never failed.—Mrs. H. E. FOSKETT, West Rutland, Vt.

Big Cleveland Demonstration at Homestead.

It May Have An Effect in Ohio As Well.

Republicans Fear That the Movement May Hurt Them in the Youngstown District.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 25.—All Homestead went democratic Saturday night, and if ever there was a political demonstration backed up by sincerity it took place in the little town which has sprung into world wide prominence so recently.

Men talked democracy, swore democracy and yelled themselves speechless over the party of Cleveland and Stevenson to show their deep abhorrence of the republican party.

In the very shadows of the Carnegie plant and in the distance softened glow of a hundred furnaces where non-union men labored those whom they have ousted, abjured, seemingly forever, the republican party by which they had stood for years.

About three thousand men were in the procession, which was the central event of the night. Among the men who openly and formally left the republican fold to enter the democratic ranks were the following, they having voted with the republicans for years: Thomas J. Crawford, acting chairman of the advisory committee; W. T. Roberts, a prominent member, formerly vice-president in the Amalgamated association; Captain O. C. Coon, John Ross, Daniel Thomas, John Williams, William Gaches, secretary of the advisory committee; Frank Johns, Henry Johns, William Wain, W. R. Vogel, James E. Jones, George Hatfield, James Kane, James McCabe, J. G. Schafer, George Todd, Robert Wigmore, and Harvey Bane.

Besides these there were Michael Sotak, a leader among the thousands of striking Italians, and his side partner politically, Frank Poliuski.

Dozens of mottoes were carried in the parade, showing to what an intense fever heat the political feeling among the Homesteaders has grown. It has seemingly been bottled up, but that night the cork came out with a bang.

One banner bore the words, "Tariff and protection." Between them were representations of revolvers and guns. A motto bore this legend, "Our fight will be carried on with friction." Another read: "We can trust Cleveland; we know he is honest."

On a float was a woman. She was stroking a black sheep in front of her. Wherever the float appeared there were hisses for the black sheep. Over the float a transparency announced, "This is Carnegie's weapon."

The Jacksonian Democratic club of Homestead was headed with this banner: "Boodle Ben is in the Soup. Our Votes Will Express Our Sentiments." Many of the paraders wanted to march around the steel works and began a move in that direction, when the marshal of the parade headed them off and did not permit any of the paraders to go within two blocks of the plant.

Had the marchers been permitted to go trouble would undoubtedly have ensued, on account of the excited condition of the men on the street.

About one-half of the strikers turned out. A large number of the iron and steel workers from Pittsburg, Brownsville and Duquesne were there. In addition there were hundreds of curious visitors who wanted to see the fun. Whenever opportunity offered the paraders howled down the steel company, the protective tariff and everything republican.

John A. Snee, the democratic candidate for the legislature, who is trying to beat Samuel S. Steel, the republican candidate, out of a re-election, received a perfect ovation: so did Snee's club.

At least 10,000 strangers visited Homestead in all. The leading democrats of Allegheny county were present, and they were cheered to the echo. After the parade an informal reception took place on the street. Dozens of men who had voted the straight republican ticket from the time they cast their first ballot stepped up and pledged themselves to support Cleveland and Stevenson this year and the democratic principle of tariff for revenue only.

The old line democrats of this end of Pennsylvania confidently expect a decided change in the political complexion in western Pennsylvania at the coming election. It is said a surprise will be given to the republicans in the shape of thousands of democratic votes cast by iron and steel workers on election day. There is no doubt that hundreds of members of the Amalgamated association have pledged themselves to vote the democratic ticket on account of the labor troubles.

The republicans, although they express confidence, are known to be decidedly uneasy in mind about the uncertain outlook.

The democratic chairman, W. J. Brennen, is working up the anti-protection sentiment thoroughly. He summed up the prospect last night. When he said, "If a man does not vote the democratic ticket this year he never will. Another Homestead will settle the republican party in western Pennsylvania."

At the meeting of the strikers in Homestead yesterday afternoon the speakers touched on the coming political event of the night and their references were invariably greeted with wild cheers. Besides those mentioned, President Weihe, of the Amalgamated association, who has always been a democrat, was present at last night's demonstration, as were some of the lesser officials.

Bets are being made in Pittsburg that Homestead will go democratic. The outpouring of democratic sentiment is expected to crystallize similar feelings among the iron workers of the entire section, not only in this state, but in Ohio.

In Youngstown, O., which is purely an iron and steel town, the democrats are making great efforts to effect a popular change of sentiment. Youngstown has heretofore been considered a safe town by the republicans, but they, too, are said to be in fear of a big change. That the Homestead demonstration will have an increasing effect from now until election day there cannot be the slightest doubt.

BARCELONA HAS FALLEN.

New York, Oct. 25.—A special cable dispatch to the Herald from LaGuayra, Venezuela, says news has been received from Barcelona of the fall of that city and the complete triumph of Crespo's forces in the state of Bermudez, in the east, where the last determined opposition to the Legalistas was made. Yaguaracuto, the general in command, assigned to this post by Monagas, and the subordinate officers under him have been made prisoners.

BYSTANDERS KILLED.

Greenwood, Ky., Oct. 25.—(Special)—Joseph Weatherford, agent for the C., N. O. & T. P. railroad, was shot through the left lung, and John Jewett, colored, shot and killed. A quarrel had been "on" between Charles Haynes and Louis Patterson. Patterson saw Haynes passing his saloon and immediately opened fire with a Winchester. Haynes pulled a pistol and was killed before he could use it on Patterson. As detailed above the officer two men, bystanders, were shot. It is thought that a bullet from Haynes revolver killed Jewett, and that a Winchester ball struck Weatherford.

SENATOR QUAY.

He Is Calling on New York Republicans.

New York, Oct. 25.—Senator Quay, accompanied by Senator Cameron and Richard Quay, his son, arrived in this city yesterday and went at once to the Fifth Avenue hotel. There was a great crowd of republican politicians in waiting to receive him, and they accorded the distinguished Pennsylvanian a cordial reception.

In the evening Senator Cameron gave a dinner at Delmonico's in honor of Senator Quay, at which Mr. Carter, Mr. Platt and other republican chiefs were present. The political situation was fully discussed and the ground gone over in detail. To-day Senator Quay will visit the national headquarters.

WANTS A DIVORCE.

London, Oct. 25.—A dispatch to the Daily News from Paris says that Maurice Bernhardt's wife has applied for a divorce and that the case will be heard in Camera on Thursday next.

THE CITY FATHERS.

Much Talk and Not Much Business.

The Double Tracking of Ontario Street.

Former Blindness Must Be Rectified Says the Solicitor—The Crematory Question Referred to the Ways and Means Committee.

Not a member of the city council was on hand at 7:30 for the meeting last night, but shortly they began to straggle in, and after 8 o'clock President Coleman rapped for order, there were 15 members in their seats.

Immediately after approval of the minutes of the former meeting, Mr. Neuendorf wanted to know who should keep Michigan and Jefferson streets clear of obstruction by building material; and he was informed that it was the duty of chief of police.

On motion of Mr. Walker the street commissioner was directed to build a sidewalk across Indiana avenue at Detroit avenue.

An ordinance was presented to grant the Toledo Electric street Railway the right to lay a second track on Ontario street from Stickney avenue to Galena street, consent of more than half the owners of abutting property having been obtained.

A resolution was read by request of a member, for the paving of Ontario street 36 feet in the center, and rescinding a former ordinance for paving 30 feet wide. This, it was explained, with the double track, would leave the street like Bancroft street.

Mr. Manchester suggested that the property owners might object, and the street would be left with tracks and only 30 feet paved.

Mr. Neuendorf moved to refer back, as he didn't think the owners there wanted more than 30 feet paved.

Mr. Taylor thought well to defer till assurance of the widening of the pavement, and Mr. Manchester moved to lay the ordinance on the table till the resolution for paving be acted upon. This was defeated by a vote of seven to eight, and the ordinance was read a second time; but four nays prevented the third reading.

The harbor master was ordered to replank Cherry street bridge for $1,200.

A schedule of bills from the committee on sidewalks were approved.

Mr. Neuendorf, from the printing committee, moved that the auditor tender payment of printing bills at the old contract rates, and it carried.

Jacob Hockenberger was authorized to lay a crossing on Summit street opposite No. 214, with approval of the engineer.

Mr. Schmidt, from the sewer committee, moved confirmation of the original assessment on sewer 412, and it carried; and schedules of bills from the sewer committee were approved. A motion to deliver certain coupons to the Warren-Scharf Asphalt Paving company also carried.

The solicitor advised rescinding of the resolution and ordinance for improving State street, as the assessment could not be collected. He was informed other legislation over streets was in the same condition. The ordinance for opening Forrer street was also defective and damages might be claimed by parties for removal of buildings. Both matters were referred.

Contracts were accepted for a couple of sewers, and paving of Floyd street with asphalt, Central avenue grade accepted, and final estimates allowed on Grand and Oak streets and Eagle lane improvements and on sewers 420 and 422. Confirmation of the engineer's appointments of inspectors was made as follows:

Ordinances were presented to assess for improvements on certain treets and alleys; also the resolution to pave Ontario street 36 feet wide from Bush to Buckeye.

Mr. Lee, from the committee that visited San Antonio, Tex., to examine the Garretson garbage crematory, reported the tests made and their satisfactory result. He presented a proposition from Mr. Garretson to build two 100-yard furnaces on ground furnished by the city for $20,000, operate them till dried out, then allow the city to operate them 10 or 15 days, and if found satisfactory he to receive payment in cash or securities, at 6 per cent. interest if longer than one year be asked.

Health Officer Fisher explained that the township people objected to deposits of garbage; that some were emptying such material into catch basins, but he could not catch them; and that to take it to the lake was too expensive and would not do in winter. The city should have at least one of Garretson's furnaces of 100-yards capacity and something should be done at once. In answer to questions he said the furnace burned the material completely and there was no smell.

Mr. Garretson was present and was heard. Questioned by Mr. Walker, he stated the furnace would burn as much miscellaneous garbage as could be raked into it. Watery matter took longer. Meat took 50 cents a ton; the other 10 cents. In a 100-yard furnce 100 horses could be burned in a day at hardly any cost, as they supplied their own fuel. The 35-yard furnace run seven days with a ton of coal, and from 40 to 60 pounds left over, by actual computations by the quartermaster.

After further talk by Messrs. Neuendorf, Schmidt, Walker, and Manchester the matter was referred to the ways and means committee.

An ordinance to change the name of Dorr street to Fairview avenue, caused cries of "oh!" and failed on the third reading.

Reports were received from the gas and water trustees for September.

Ordinances from the board of aldermen were passed as follows: To improve Summit street and Galena street; to accept plat of James M. Brown's sub division; to accept plat of sub-division of lots 172, 173 and 174, and s. w. 56 feet of lots 169, 170 and 171, Scottwood addition; to appropriate money to pay salaries; to assess a special tax on Bay street, Lee street, Walbridge avenue, Broadway, Walbridge avenue, Peck street, Indiana avenue, Williams street, Mott street and St. Clair street.

The following resolutions from the board of aldermen were also passed: Directing the city auditor to advertise general fund bonds for natural gas purposes; to improve Jefferson street from Superior street to Eleventh street, by paving with asphalt; to permit property owners to grade Grove street; directing the street commissioner to remove piles of lumber and house from Thirteenth street and Lucas street; directing the city solicitor to institute proceedings against Buckeye Brewing Co. to collect amount claimed due natural gas trustees; directing city civil engineer to issue permit to drain lots 20 to 42, Allen's addition; to accept paving of Eagle lane; to accept turnpiking of Grand street; to accept bond guaranteeing pavement of alley between Summit street and St. Clair street; to confirm contract for sewer No. 433.

There was some discussion on the Jefferson street paving, and a tilt between Messrs. Taylor and Lee; but only Mr. Neuendorf voted nay.

Mr. Manchester wanted to know if there was no way of repairing or replacing Broadway bridge to make it passable. The solicitor stated that he was about to introduce suit, but unless an agreement was arrived at there was no knowing how long litigation might last.

THE TOLEDO OFFICERS

Of the Ohio National Guard Meet

And Formulate Plans to Increase the Efficiency of the Troops—Messrs Bunker, Hopkins and McMaken on the Committee.

At a recent meeting of the officers of the Ohio National guard resident in Toledo, held to discuss the subject of further completing the organization of the Ohio National guard, a committee consisting of Col. H. S. Bunker, of the Sixteenth infantry, Major O. J. Hopkins, of the First artillery, and Capt. W. V. McMaken, of the Toledo Cadets, was appointed to draft a circular letter asking for opinions as to the advisability of dividing the state into military districts, each district to be under command of an officer with the rank of brigadier-general, and the whole under command of an officer with the rank of major-general, who shall act under the orders and direction of the governor, as commander-in-chief.

Although the National guard of Ohio is numerically strong enough to constitute a division, yet we have no organization larger than regimental, reads the committee's communication. The recent service of the National guard in other states demonstrates the advisability and necessity of larger units, not only for the increased efficiency of the troops for active service, but for the education and experience to be gained by general officers, and by staff officers as well. The efficiency of the quartermaster's department in three states has recently been tested with results known to all.

It is well known that the sooner Ohio has a well organized and experienced military staff, the better it will be for the troops, in case of service in the field.

The only way to educate general and staff officers, is to have them, and let them have the advantage of experience during annual encampments, with the end in view of gathering ideas and suggestions from the officers in general.

We hope by thus bringing the matter into notice now, it will give time to formulate plans, study the subject, and prepare the way for an intelligent discussion thereof at the next meeting of the National Guard association of Ohio.

The signs of the times point to the need of a thoroughly organized and equipped National guard. Let us begin to think now and be ready to act soon.

Experience teaches us that all reforms and advances in the National guard must originate with, and be fostered by the guard.

REPLY POSTAL CARDS.

Toledo Notified of a Supply of the Domestic Series.

The International Series Comes Later—Description of the Double Postals.

Toledo postoffice has received a circular letter from the department relative to the issue of double, or reply, postal cards, for domestic and international use.

The domestic reply cards, now being prepared, will be sold at postoffices at two cents each. The card consists of two parts, one appropriate to an original message and the other to a reply thereto, the imprint upon the two superscription faces being on reverse sides of the paper, and the parts being easily separable by means of a scored line between them, cut about half way through the thickness of paper. In the upper right-hand corner constituting the denominational stamp is a portrait of Gen. Grant, in citizen's dress, three-quarters face looking to the left, in a horizontally lined oval frame, with a fine line around the inner and outer edges thereof—a white four-pointed star in a small black circle being on either side of the frame, which bears above the words "eMssage Card," and below the words, "One Cent," in white, slightly-shaded capitals. To the left of the stamp in prominent black letters with outline shading—the letters being arranged in a straight line—are the words "Postal Card with Paid Reply," below which, in shaded German letters, are the words, "United States of America," and underneath this, in very small, single-line capitals, the words, "This side is for address only." In these latter characters, in the lower left-hand corner of the card, is this direction, "Detach the annexed card for answer." Around the whole card is an ornate inked border, with heavy corner pieces. The reply part is precisely the same as the message part, except that the upper part of the frame around the portrait bears the words, "Reply Card," while to the left of the stamp the words, "Reply Postal Card," in heavy black letters, are substituted for the words on the message part. The direction in the lower left-hand corner is omitted. The color of the paper of which the cards are made is light manilla; the ink of the imprint is black. The size of the cards is 3 1-2 by 5 1-2 inches.

The department is also preparing and will issue later on, for use in the international mails, supplies of double, or reply postal cards of the same general character as those for domestic use, the price of which, under special provision of the postal union convention, will be four cents—two cents in each direction being the prescribed rate of postage on cards. Under this provision these cards are transmissible in the mails of postal union countries in an unsealed condition, and the reply parts, when detached, are good for mailing the replies.

The design of these international cards differs from that of the domestic in that the stamp has the head of Liberty with coronet, such as is stamped on the $20 gold piece, with white rosettes in small circles set in an oblong tablet in place of the stars, and the words, "Message Card," and "Two Cents." To the left in black capitals, arranged in a curve, are the words, "Universal Postal Union," with equivalent words in French in smaller letters underneath. Below this, in a straight line, in ornamental prominent black capitals, are the words "United States of America," with the French equivalent beneath in smaller letters, while below this again, in small, single-line capitals, are these words, "Write Only the Address on This Side." In these latter characters in the lower left-hand corner of the card is the direction, "Detach annexed card for answer." Around the whole is a border exactly like that in the domestic reply card, except that nearly the whole upper portion of it is taken up with a tablet surrounded with a single line, wherein, upon a black ground, are these words in white capitals, "Postal card with paid reply," after which is a very small star, and the words in small letters, "Carte Postale avec Response Payee." The reply part is precisely the same as the message part, except that the words, "Reply Card," are substituted for "Message Card" in the frame of the stamp, while the following words are put in the tablet along the top border of the card: "Reply Postal Card" and "Carte Postale Response." The direction in the lower left-hand corner is omitted. The paper on which these cards are to be printed is of the same quality as that used for the domestic reply cards, but is of a pearl-gray color. The imprint is in dark blue ink. The size is the same as the domestic reply card.

The object of these cards is to provide the original sender with a paid card for an answer. The cards will be sold unfolded. The message on them may be written or printed. The cards will be mailable only as letters if trimmed or otherwise mutilated, or if anything other than a label of address on the superscription face, be posted or attached to them. The sender of a double card may write or print his name and address on the superscription face of the reply card, or on a label for address, but the reply must in no case be used to convey the original message. On the card for international use he may print or stamp his name and address on the front or back of the card. The reply half of an international card is good only for transmitting a message back to this country. If press copies are taken of the message card care should be exercised not to subject the reply card to the effects of moisture. If the message part is not detached the reply part will be unmailable as a postal card.

The domestic reply cards will be on sale at Toledo postoffice as soon as they are issued.

ST. MARYS.

Notes and Mention of General Interest.

St. Mary's O., Oct. 25.—(Special)—A terrific natural gas explosion occurred near St. Rose, Mercer county, yesterday, and as the result of their folly, Peter Griesdorn and George Shulte, two young men, may lose their lives. A large gas well had just been completed and the gas was allowed to escape, pending the arrival of tools to shut it in. The above named men, who were slightly intoxicated, happened to pass the well, and seeing nobody around, concluded to fire it. Little realizing their danger. Griesdorn struck a match and applied it, when the gas ignited, causing a terrible explosion and throwing both men in different directions. Griesdorn was almost burned to a crisp and his death is momentarily expected, while Shulte was also badly injured.

The barn owned by Peter Puterbaugh, near Celina, was burned last night, with all its contents, including two head of horses. Loss $2,500, which is fully covered by insurance.

Charles Kimball, one of the oldest musicians in this section, who died on Columbus day, was buried yesterday. He also belonged to the G. A. R. and a number of veterans from Wapakoneta and New Bremen were in attendance.

Miss Leola Yohn, of Shelby county, is about to fall heir to a large estate, and if reports are true, a rather romantic history has had a happy denouement. Her mother who is now the wife of John A. Gear, a farmer in Champaign county, was previously the wife of the late Dr. W. A. Yohn, of Valparaiso, Ind., to whom she was married at Quincy, Logan county. Two years later a divorce was procured, and a few weeks afterward the present heiress, who never saw her father, was born. Dr. Yohn, in the meantime, married again, and had amassed a fortune estimated at $400,000, when he died. His daughter, meanwhile, had been educated through her own industry at the public schools and not long since obtained a position as teacher in Champaign county. A short time ago she wrote to a law firm at Valparaiso making inquiries concerning her father, and then for the first time it was known that he had a child. Her claims, it is said, have been fully established and she will shortly be put in possession of the estate.

'TWAS LIVELY FOR A TIME

At the Board of Education Last Night—Some Warm Words.

The school board met in regular session last evening.

Dr. Scott was present, as he stated, representing the Grand Army of the city, and presented a petition signed by about 200 members of the G. A. R., requesting that the case of Janitor Peugh be reconsidered, and if possible some amicable adjustment of difficulties made.

Nathaniel Golliet was present and stated that he was before the board some four months previous in the matter of the punishment of a child of his at that time. He claimed that Superintendent Compton whipped his boy, and as a result he is a sufferer from St. Vitus dance.

The committee to which the matter had been referred reported no action taken.

Superintendent Compton stated that the boy was one of the most incorrigible boys in the school; that he was the leader of a bad gang of rouga boys who were endeavoring to break up the school, and that it was a case that required extreme measures; that he simply took the boy to the basement and punished him.

Dr. Scott said that the committee was evidently afraid to report; that any report would have been satisfactory, but he was not satisfied with the superintendent's report. He had looked into the case and had come to the conclusion that there was more in it than had been given the light. He presented two whips, the one used in this case, and another used upon a boy in one of the other schools. The whips, he said, were raw-hides; that he would be ashamed to whip a horse with, and that if a man did he would be hauled up for it. He moved that a new committee be appointed.

Mr. Compton said that he wanted to show the board a few samples of what teachers had to contend with. He then produced an array of firearms, formidable looking enough, and said, directing his remarks to Dr. Scott:

"You bring in these whips with a little sentiment, but these are the instruments that kill, and have been taken from school children. What is your little whip to be compared with these, or the little sentiment you have managed to stir up? I understand that you and Mr. Eversman have been running about, trying to get this man to make trouble."

"That is a Le," said Dr. Scott, jumping to his feet.

"Well, I understand so, and if I mistake I withdraw the statement."

"Well, it's a positive lie."

The president called for order and the two gentlemen immediately realized the point to where their angry passions had carried them. They apologized to each other and peace was restored.

On motion of Mr. Kohn the board as a committee will investigate the case on next Tuesday evening. The janitor's case will also be considered.

The usual bills were allowed and ordered paid.

WAUSEON.

Funeral of George Andrews—General Mention.

Wauseon, O., Oct. 25.—(Special)—The funeral of Geo. Andrews, who was instantly killed in the accident here last Saturday evening, occurred at his home, on Chestnut street, this morning, Rev. Mullenbeck, of the Catholic church, officiating.

He was 41 years of age and had been section boss here for a large number of years. He leaves a wife and six children. Adam Belt, who was badly injured at the same time, is slowly improving.

The work of macadamizing West Chestnut street is being pushed as rapidly as possible and will soon be one of the finest streets in northwestern Ohio.

Surveyors in the new extension of the Wabash from Whitehouse to Montpelier, are within three miles of this place and that the road will now be put through there is no doubt.

Sherman School Exercises.

To the Editor: Very little if anything has been published of the exercises at the Sherman Street school on Columbus day. The public at large is surprised not to learn of the grand success Sherman school met with. All other schools received great credit. Still, above all schools, Sherman, with her 18 teachers and 900 pupils, deserves the most! An elegantly arranged program was carried out without mistakes in the most glorious way. The celebration was conducted during the fore and afternoon by the principal, scholars and teachers, in love with their school, full of enthusiasm and earnest patriotism, sustained with energetic efforts. The "Sherman," especially the foot drill, was admired by all, and Miss Janet Timpany, who took such great pains in drilling those 16 primary scholars to perfection, received abundant and endless applause. One of the main features in the parade was the Sherman, although they had no banner nor standard; but the excellent conduct and good behavior of the pupils spoke for itself. And all along the line of march you heard continually applause and "Hurrah! for Sherman School." The congratulations from the city authorities from the grand stand and others strengthened the pride and honor of the scholars. Never in their lives will the scholars forget this great event, which is lastingly and deeply engraved in their minds.

Many thanks are due to Rev. H. M. Bacon, Prof. Pooley and Grand Army for their able assistance.

AN ADMIRER.

HE DID SALUTE.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Chief of Police McClaughrey to-day denied the story printed in a New York paper that he failed to salute Vice President Morton during Thursday's civic parade. "As I turned in front of the reviewing stand," he said, "I saluted, but my attention being called to some men who were trying to overpower an officer the salute was cut short."

FOSTORIA.

Fostoria, O., Oct. 25.—(Special.)—Life has recently been a burden for Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Hill, venerable settlers of Freedom township, Wood county, located several miles north of this city. Their house has been pelted with stones and other missiles for several weeks at night, and one night was broken open and entered by marauders, who attacked the hired man and were only driven away after a desperate encounter by Mr. Hill. The sheriff of Wood county is investigating the matter. The couple have no enemies so far as they know.

Rev. H. C. Jameson of the First M. E. church hauled his congregation over the coals for voting the republican or democratic tickets, and last night he preached a sermon on good roads, in the interest of the Fostoria Bicycle club. He is greeted with a crowded audience on each appearance.

NEGRO RIOTS.

Titusville, Fla., Oct. 25.—The negro riot here has assumed alarming proportions. Nearly 500 of them are encamped about one mile from this city. They are armed with Winchesters and well supplied with ammunition. The white people have but few rifles and are far from a supply depot.

DO YOU WANT GOLD?

Cripple Creek is not a health resort. It is a wealth resort. Quite a difference! Location, near Pike's Peak, in Colorado. Gold—bright, yellow gold, is found at grass roots and in the rock formation.

Reliable experts claim this is to-day the richest camp in Colorado. Assays average $100 per ton, and have run as high as $5,000. One hundred people a day are now rushing to Fremont, chief town of the district.

The chance of a life-time is worth looking after!

You can get there quickly and comfortably by taking Santa Fe Route. Only line with no change of cars from Chicago, Kansas City and other principal cities to Florissant, nearest railroad station, with daily stages, to Fremont.

The purchasers themselves to settle how it is to be awarded. You may well wonder how we can do this, but it is no secret and easily explained. It is simply a matter of business, as we advertised in our Leap Year Sale, and comes under the head of Wholesale and Retail. We have placed prices on these lots to sell them during the sale, and if you buy you are getting lots at wholesale prices. If any lots are left over, which is not likely, you will have to pay what they are worth, or an advance of 25 per cent. to 40 per cent.

Isn't This Worth Saving?

ARE YOU A MARRIED MAN?

YES?

Then why in the name of everything that's sensible, don't you buy a home of your own? It is a duty which you owe your country, your city, your family and yourself.

AS A LAND OWNER . .

You are more closely allied to the interests of your country and therefore more deeply imbued with the spirit of patriotism. You are a better citizen, for the reason that you are more intimately identified with the community in which you reside, beside having a better standing therein.

It is the Moving Population . .

Your Family Needs the Comforts of a Home!

Which a rented house cannot supply. Finally, to touch you nearer . . . . . .

YOU ARE WASTING YOUR MONEY IN RENT!

EVERY MAN HIS OWN LANDLORD!

Anybody can build a house by going into a Loan Company as a partial payment down and balance in monthly instalments is all that is necessary. The loan companies of Toledo have been a great factor in the growth of the city and many thousands of homes have been built through them.

We often assist those who have not sufficient money to pay down, by putting up collateral with the company.

WE ARE AT PRESENT

BUILDING THREE HOUSES

FOR OUR CUSTOMERS, viz:

One costing $2,100; Lot, $700; House, $1,400.
Down payment, $100; $20 monthly.
Another costing $1,775; Lot, $500; House, $1,275.

And a cottage costing $900; Lot, $300; House, $600.

THE CASE OF MR. PECK

It Has Been Dismissed in the Police Court,

Because the Grand Jury Is Interested.

When the Man is Finally Brought Into Court He Will Have Much to Answer For.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 25—When the criminal charge against Charles F. Peck came up in police court this morning counsel prosecuting did not appear, and Mr. Meegan, of counsel for the defense, asked that the charge be dismissed. The request was acceded to, but later Mr. Chase, as prosecuting attorney, asked that instead of dismissing the case, it be put over until the week after election.

Justice Gutman then made his decision in accordance with Mr. Chase's wishes. This is the sixth postponement that the Peck case has had.

When Mr. Meegan heard of this change he hurried back to court and made objection. The police justice then sent for Mr. Chase and there was a spirited argument. Mr. Meegan argued that the case was already before the upper court, the grand jury having found an indictment. This was a superfluous movement and he moved to dismiss because two indictments of a similar nature could not be found. The district attorney had said the case should be dismissed.

Mr. Chase said it was not known what the indictment of the grand jury contained.

Mr. Meegan said that if it was so he would subpoena the district attorney to tell. Mr. Chase did not answer this argument and the court finally dismissed the case.

WILL FIND A DISTRICT.

St. John, N. B., Oct. 25.—Hon. A. G. Blair, the premier, who, with his entire ticket was defeated in York, will find another constituency in St John or Victoria, and is practically certain of another four years' power. The two men to be elected in Gloucester county to-day will doubtless be government supporters.

IN FROM NEW YORK.

Cherbourg, Oct. 25.—The steamer La Champagne, from New York, arrived at 10 o'clock this morning.

SMOKE THIS IN YOUR PIPE

Republicans Run Up Against A Hornet's Nest.

The McKinley Bill Was the Reason Why Cooley Will Not Support Harrison.

New York, Oct. 25.—The Evening Post says: The report, first published by the Detroit Free Press, that ex-Judge Thos. M. Cooley had determined to vote for Cleveland has been denied vigorously in many republican quarters, and the Chicago Inter-Ocean has gone so far as to print a dispatch from Ann Arbor, in which Mr. Cooley was credited with saying that the report was "entirely unauthorized and without foundation."

In order to get at the truth in the matter we wrote to a member of the faculty of the university of Michigan, asking him to give us, if he were able to do so, the facts in the case. His letter received this morning, contains the following:

"Judge Cooley authorizes me to say to you that he stands by the statement published in the Detroit Free Press, and that the supposed dispatch of the Chicago Inter-Ocean is wholly false. He is willing you should say, if you care to, that he does not believe in the McKinley bill, and that he expects to vote for Mr. Cleveland. More than this, he does not care to have said, and he is entirely unwilling to publish a letter or to take any active part in the campaign."

AFTER INDIANA.

Both Parties Getting Out the Vote.

Cockran, Depew and Reid Awake the Echoes in the Hoosier Capital.

Indianapolis, Oct. 25.—The republicans and democrats each had a big demonstration in this city to-night. Hon. Bourke Cockran arrived at 1:30 this afternoon and was met some distance out by a deputation of prominent democrats and escorted to the Grand hotel where he held a reception.

At 7:30 he spoke at the grand opera house.

A little later, Hon. Whitelaw Reid and Chauncey M. Depew arrived by special train from Logansport.

Both of these leaders spoke in Tomlinson hall.

Preceding the meetings, each party had a monster street parade and they are expected to be the greatest of the Indiana campaigns.

WILL STIR THE NATIVES

The Bell Will To Be Tested in Court.

Many Sensations Are Due To Be Sprung.

Some of the Testimony Was Alluded to in the Celebrated Sharron-Hill Case.

San Francisco, Oct. 25.—Over the will of Millionaire Thomas Bell, which was filed Saturday, a contest is certain that may lead to sensational developments.

Bell's estate amounts to $2,000,000 and in a will executed last February, he left all this to his wife and six children, but the property cannot be distributed for 14 years—until the youngest child comes of age.

Meanwhile the widow will get such an allowance as the executors think proper. The widow is said not to fancy this arrangement, as she wished to handle the estate, and Bell's nephew, who managed his large ranch in Santa Barbara, expected to be remembered.

He will make a contest on the ground that the will was not executed by Mr. Bell and that he is the only legal heir, as the six children named in the will are not Bell's children.

This latter ground will open up a scandal of which the public had a glimpse during the great Sharon trial.

Sharon and Bell were chums until Bell went to live with a woman whose husband was in the insane asylum.

Bell was eager to have a family, though he was over 50, so he promised this woman $50,000 for every child which was born to her.

When two children had been born the insane husband died and Bell then married her. He had six children by this woman. It was a remark made by Sharon in regard to the paternity of these children that led to a bitter quarrel between Bell and Sharon. Bell found his revenge in furnishing Sarah Althea with the money for carrying on her divorce suit.

For the last five years Bell and his wife spent little time together, she living on a ranch in Sonoma.

IN THE STORM.

London, Oct. 25.—The British bark Chieftain, which left San Francisco on January 2, has arrived at Queenstown in a considerably damaged condition from stormy weather on the voyage.

The British mail steamer Roslyn Castle, from Southampton for Capetown, has had to return to Southampton owing to the breaking of her shaft.

A WHOLE TOWN

Liable to Go Down Before the Flames.

Three Hundred Houses Destroyed and the Conflagration Still Raging.

Quebec, Oct. 25.—Dispatches from St. Anne de Beaupre state that fire broke out in a house there about midnight Sunday.

Up to 9 o'clock this morning 300 houses have been destroyed and the fire is still raging though partly under control. The locality in which the fire spread was on the road from the steamer landing to the famous church of St. Anne, the shrine of which is visited by thousands of pilgrims every season from all parts of the continent and where wonderful miracles are alleged to have been wrought.

The latest advices state that the church is still untouched by the flames and may be saved.

The population of the village are in a great state of excitement at the possibility of the fire destroying what they regard as a sacred edifice are are making every effort to prevent its destruction.

New silver bread plates—Cawood's.

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Gerling's flour mills were destroyed by fire at 2 o'clock this morning. Loss, $20,000. Alfred Steele and Wm. Connell, firemen, were injured, the former slightly; the latter seriously. The fire is supposed to have been caused by an explosion of flour dust.
